ROME, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The funeral of Pope Benedict will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, it was announced at the Vatican this morning.

The college of cardinals further decided that the funeral ceremony should be attended only by cardinals, members of the diplomatic corps and representatives of Roman aristocracy.

The body of the pontiff will be placed in the sepulchre in the left lateral nave of the Basilica.

Despite the inclement weather to-day crowds continued to flock to St. Peter's drawn largely by expectancy that the funeral would occur this afternoon as up to this morning it had been left indefinite whether the burial would occur today or tomorrow.

Doherty Secures Release of Pay Held up by Civil Service Authorities

Superintendent of Streets Harry Doherty announced today that he has secured the release of the pay of 40 laborers in his department, hired as emergency men, said pay having been held up on order of the civil service authorities.

In addition to this concession on the part of the commissioner of civil service, all loose ends will be picked up and a clean slate given the department of streets as of February 1. After that time the superintendent will be held strictly accountable for every employee in his department.

The street department has received a list of 363 permanent men in the street and sewer departments from James E. O'Neil, director of the labor bureau and a similar list, showing the names of men carried as permanent employees of the ash collection department, has been requested by Superintendent Doherty.

GOOD NEWS FROM THE WATER DEPARTMENT

There will be no increase in the water rates in the city this year and what is more, the water department hopes to wipe out its debit charges that amounted to an overdraught of $60,414.91 on January 1, 1922.

Progress in decreasing the overdraught was made last year when the figures were reduced from $100,552.21 to the above mentioned sum now carried on the debit side of the department books.

If the total debit is to be cared for this year, however, the department must receive about 17,000 in receipts for water used by the park department bubble-fountains and in hydrant service.

TRUCK DAMAGED BY ELECTRIC CAR

A truck owned by George O. Perreault & Son and operated by Joseph D. Perreault was badly damaged in a rear end collision with an electric car on High street this morning. The truck was being driven north on High street, with the left rear wheel in the car track. Near the Polish church the driver tried to pull off to the right to allow the car, going in the same direction, to pass, but was unable to do so. A collision resulted, in which the spokes were broken in the left rear wheel of the truck, the left mud-guard bent and the rear left standard broken. Fortunately the driver of the truck and the car's passengers and motorman escaped injury.

ARGUMENTS IN LOUD CASE

Fate of Man Accused of Slaying Officer Will be in
Hands of Jury Tonight

Attorney Feeney, Counsel
for Defense, Opens Argu-
ments—Attacks Testimony

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 25.—The fate of Clarence W. Loud, charged with the murder of Patrolman James A. Preston at Wakefield on the evening of April 9, 1921 probably will be in the hands of the jury tonight. Final arguments were made today.

Attorney John P. Feeney, counsel for Loud, who opened the arguments, attacked the testimony of witnesses who described the automobile seen on Lowell street, near the scene of the murder as having been similar to a closed car owned by Loud. He declared that the jury should weigh the evidence carefully in that connection. He mentioned also testimony by state witnesses that they saw the numerals "20" on the license plate of the machine, and urged the jurors to note that at least one witness who so testified did not recall having seen the numbers the day after the murder, but thought he did months afterwards when he testified at the trial.

Feeney declared consideration of the notebook found on Preston in which the names of Loud and Alice M. Bennett were written was most important, but that the jurors should remember that police officers like other people were subject to the frailties of mankind.

RESUME PROBE OF CHARGES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Resuming its inquiry into charges of alleged illegal executions of American soldiers overseas, a senate committee was told today by Henry Gentry, negro, of Lawrence, Kas., that in France he saw Maj. Jas. Phillips of Orange, N. J., a negro, shoot William Patterson, a negro private, for refusing to help a cook cut bread.

Gentry, who testified while an ambulance waited outside the senate office building to take him to a hospital to be operated on for appendicitis, said Patterson later died, according to general reports and that so far as he knew, the negro major was not tried.

SCHOOL BUDGET IS APPROVED

Estimates for 1922 Have Been Approved by School Committee

Increase of About $100,000
Over the Expenditures of Last Year

Revenue for the Year is Estimated at Approximately $150,000

The school committee last night approved its budget estimates for 1922 in the total amount of $1,223,061.58, which is an increase over last year's expenditure of approximately $100,000. Provision is made in the estimates for the operation of the new high school for the last four months of the year, beginning with the opening of the schools for the fall term and $25,000 has been asked for new equipment, including manual training machinery, bookkeeping machines and other commercial department necessities, lunch room and domestic science equipment and new villas for the school regiment.

It is estimated that it will require additional janitorial service for the new building as well as the employment of two engineers—one first and one second class—and two first class firemen. This will cost approximately $5000, it is estimated. New teachers will cost $3000.

The junior high school at the Morley school was in operation only four months of the school year in 1921, but provision has been made in the budget for its full operation this year and the increase in that department of the school work will be $35,000.

The vocational school branch will cost $10,000 more than last year, due to the fact that additional units have been provided for in the evening sessions of that school.

The remaining increase over last year is accounted for by the normal advance in the salaries of teachers working on one-half of the money expended for the year at approximately $155,000. The Massachusetts school fund will reimburse the city to the amount of $70,000 and in addition the state pays one-half of the money expended for vocational and continuation training, amounting to about $62,000. Tuition from out of town pupils will bring receipts of $15,000 and a reimbursement for teachers and janitors in Americanization work will total $6658.

THE SALVATION ARMY

Many Dinners Served Today
at the Salvation Army's
Soup Kitchen

Nearly 125 hungry mouths were fed today at the Salvation Army's soup kitchen which was conducted in the headquarters in Appleton street. In fact the demand on the kitchen was so great it was necessary to turn away a few people as not enough soup had been prepared. Yesterday the kitchen opened and there were few to partake of the beef soup. But today many were on hand when the kitchen opened at 12 o'clock and before 1 o'clock everything prepared by cooks had been consumed.

Many of the unemployed availed themselves of the opportunity for a bowl of steaming hot soup in which had been cut up potatoes, carrots, onions and cabbage. The women were there as well as the men, and the guests also included a number of children.

Yesterday all of the soup unaltered for at the kitchen was taken to the homes of needy families. Today many women applied for soup to take home, while a quantity was taken to the homes of those who were unable to come after it.

Adjutant Mark Arnold had personal charge of the affair today and reported that it was a great success. He said that preparations are being made to feed more people tomorrow. Fish chowder will be on the menu for Friday. Soup tickets may be obtained at the overseers of the poor, police station, Girls' Social club and the army headquarters.

Siberian Question Disposed of—Virtual Agreement on Naval Reduction Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—The work of the arms conference appeared to be working rapidly towards conclusion today as the far eastern committee, having disposed of the Siberian question at the same time that a virtual agreement was being reached on the sole remaining issue of the naval reduction plan, and again to begin the final wind-up of lesser problems. Yesterday's high speed developments were regarded by some of the delegates today as having cleared the way for final adjournment of the conference possibly within a week.

Secretary Hughes expressed "special gratification" with the Japanese pledge against territorial designs in Russia, while reiterating the hope of his government that Japan would find it possible to carry out "in the near future" her expressed intention of withdrawing troops from Siberia.

The Japanese suggestion that the islands to which the prohibition against further fortification is to apply be specifically listed, left only its formal approval in text by the Japanese government to complete the naval treaty. The Japanese agreed that the Japanese Bonin group should be included under the prohibition.

Another agreement provides that the four-power treaty shall not be construed as applying to the major Japanese islands.

While the Shantung negotiations were adjourned until tomorrow, there were indications of increasing activity outside to aid in bringing about an agreement on the Tsingtao railroad issue.

PLAN SECRET SESSIONS RUM PLAYED PART IN ERECTION OF COLLEGE

Organization of International Irish League Behind Closed Doors

PARIS, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press).—After a heated debate, the world congress of the Irish race decided today to hold secret sessions for the organization of the International Irish League, the project for which was favorably passed upon by the congress yesterday. This action was hotly contested by several delegates, and much speculation as to its purpose was provoked.

J. J. Brown, of Newfoundland, one of the youngest of the delegates, made a vigorous fight for open meetings. Delegate Cleary, of Australia, in discussing the subject, severely berated the press. Bamon de Valera indicated that he also favored secret sessions on the question of trade promotion.

Delegate Brown during his fight against the secrecy motion, criticized the general attitude of the congress, which he said, had been run in a manner worthy of a back woods camp. Delegate Cleary, in the reply, said there were no faithful press reports of the proceedings not even in the Irish press.

Orange trees have been known to bear fruit until they were 150 years old.

Secret of a Good Disposition

A woman who carefully safeguards her health benefits her disposition. She will be happy and attractive to all. The world unfortunately is filled with sweet women who are unhappy because they are held back from usefulness by troubles to common among them. Frivolous and nervousness rapidly destroy good dispositions. Slightly, all worn-out women cannot make happy homes.

Lidia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of women's health. This is clearly proven by the many letters we are continually publishing in this paper, from women who have been restored to health and happiness by its use after years of suffering. Why don't you try it?—Adv.

WILL SEE THAT HORSES ARE BLANKETED

The Humane society, through assistant Harry Baker, is making a campaign to see that horses are properly blanket. All day yesterday and today Mr. Baker was around the city and in that time stopped 40 drivers and requested them to cover their horses. Some of the cases included horses left out in the cold while drivers were inside getting warm.

In every case it was found the driver was equipped with a blanket but had not used it. No offense was taken by any of those held up, but after receiving a short talk on the manner in which horses should be treated in cold weather, the drivers went on promising to be more careful in the future.

The society reports that the past two days have been especially hard on horses who have to be out all day, as the weather is extremely cold and the animals have little time to get warm once they leave the stables in the morning. Some of them are fortunate enough to be driven back to the stables for the noon day meal, but a number of them are required to feed in the open.

The society wants to be fair to horsemen in this matter, but it will not allow the horses to be inhumanely treated, which is the case if they are allowed to stand without covering and protection from the cold.

A word to the wise has been sufficient in all cases and the society hopes that it will not be forced to press actions for cruelty to animals as a case may be made out under these conditions.

BARBERS VOTE TO REDUCE PRICES

Barber and shavers will be cheaper in local salons after shops after Feb. 6, according to a decree issued last night after a well attended meeting of the Barbers' union. The price of a haircut will be 25 cents instead of 30 while a shave will be 15 cents instead of 20.

These prices represent the minimum which may be charged by any shop employing union help. The prices are not compulsory upon the master barbers who may charge as high as they wish.

This reduction was favored by the union barbers working in the outskirts of the city, while those in the business section favored the old price, now in vogue. The prices under the new scale will be:

Shampoo 35c
Face Massage 25c
Shampoo 25c
Oil Shampoo 50c
Hair Shave 15c
Hair Trim 10c
Toilet Water 10c

Real rate, the bill proposes that the owner of such property shall pay an additional tax of one-half of one per cent per annum on his income. Its effect upon property owners, of course, would vary with each individual case, but from the standpoint of the municipality the effect would be that instead of receiving all of the tax, as at present, the municipality would receive only five-sixths of such tax as the state might collect under the income tax law.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells that indigestion is caused by hyper-acidity, meaning, there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten goes in the stomach much like garbage in a can, forming acid, gas and gases which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get a good purgative four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effecting and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While, relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the salivary glands, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithium and sodium phosphates. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

Held For Attempt to Shoot Composer

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Raymond Oberndorf, a young musician, is held by the police today, pending investigation of an attempt last night to shoot Felix Borowski, composer and president of the Chicago Musical College. The young man, believed by the police to be demented, said Borowski was devoted to his young wife, a devotion, Oberndorf insisted, which had caused Borowski to neglect his musical composition and to slight him. Oberndorf, the police say, called at the Borowski home and after a brief conversation, fired two shots, narrowly missing Borowski and his wife, and then beat the composer over the head with the pistol during a desperate struggle.

When You Feel a Little "Off" It Will Bring You Back to Health

Some people never need any medicine at all. They are, as they say, "going as strong as a bull." They are mighty lucky. Most people need a good tonic once in a while. They take cold, or through overwork or social activity do not get enough sleep; many eat improper food and thus hurt the digestion. It is mighty wise to take Gude's Pepto-Mangan with the meals for a few weeks and build up. One cannot have too much good health. Pepto-Mangan gives you plenty of red blood, and everybody knows that red blood means feeling good and looking good at the time. Sold by druggists in liquid and tablet form.—Adv.

Pilgrims Pour Into Rome

to attend the funeral of the late Pope Benedict and were camping in the open air before St. Peter's, in the hope of getting a glimpse of the body. More than half a million persons have filed past the catafalque in the two days on which the body has been exposed, the crowds, though orderly, taxing the gendarmes charged with keeping them in line.

Meanwhile the foreign cardinals continue to arrive for the conclave of the Sacred College at which the new pontiff will be elected. Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, who is looked upon as somewhat of a "dark horse" in the election, is expected in time for the funeral. It is acknowledged on all sides that he is certain to poll more votes on the first ballot than any other foreign cardinal.

Two Thirds Vote Necessary
Interest in the election centers greatly upon its possible effect on the relations between the Vatican and the Italian government. Cardinal Mailli is represented as being supported by the group favoring rapprochement, while Cardinal Gasparri, now acting head of the church, favors continuance of Benedict's policies of tolerance without recognition. Cardinal Merry del Val, also mentioned as a possible choice, is supported by the faction favoring absolute separation. This group is thought to have more than a majority in the conclave. A two-thirds vote, however, is necessary for election.

O'Connell For Merry del Val

It is considered probable here that Cardinal O'Connell, who is said to belong to the group supporting Merry del Val, will not arrive before the proclamation of the new pope, nor will Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, who is said to be one of the group supporting the election of Cardinal Gasparri.

Other cardinals who, it is believed now, probably will not participate in the opening of the conclave, are Bégini, archbishop of Quebec; Cavalcanti, archbishop of Rio de Janeiro, and Prisco, archbishop of Naples. In such an event there will be but 55 cardinals present at the conclave on February 2. The assertion was made here yesterday that any impression that a kind of rivalry exists between the Italian and the so-called foreign cardinals over the selection of a pope of Italian or non-Italian authority was mistaken. Most of the so-called foreign cardinals agree on the advisability that the pope should be an Italian, because of tradition (only 48 popes were foreigners out of 260); because the seat of the papacy is in Italy (when it was at Avignon the popes were French); and because of the neutrality which the Italians succeeded in maintaining in the most momentous periods in the history of the papacy.

ARMED GUARD FOR OLES

Lawless Threaten to "Bump Off" Mayor of Youngstown, Ohio

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 25.—An armed guard is staying close to Mayor George L. Oles, day and night, as a result of threatened letters received by the mayor. It was learned today. Reports are current that threats have been made by members of the lawless element to "bump off" Oles because of his activity in attempting to clean up the city.

Cardinal Bourne Arrives
Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, arrived this morning from England, and visited St. Peter's where he rendered homage to the dead pope.

The statement has appeared in several newspapers that Crown Prince Humbert visited the cathedral yesterday to view the body. This is semi-officially denied through the Stefani news agency.

Cardinals Start For Rome
PARIS, Jan. 25.—Cardinal Dubois, archbishop of Paris, and Cardinal Lecomte, archbishop of Reims, left today to attend the funeral of Pope Benedict and later the conclave to elect his successor.

Coldest place on earth is in the Siberian province of Irkutsk, where the temperature has fallen as low as 130 below zero.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY

OF "BOBBY" BURNS

Oh, what some power the little gleam us
To see ourselves as others see us!

Scotsmen and lovers of lyric poems the world over are today celebrating the 163rd anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, Lowell Scotlands-American now, but owing to the traditions of old Scotland and Scottish men of letters and song—are to remember the anniversary in the usual way, with observances at home and in fraternal clan circles.

While no extensive observance is planned for the anniversary, the members of the Grand, No. 141, Order of Scottish Clans, at their regular meeting night, tomorrow evening, will observe the anniversary in proper form. Devoted lovers of Burns and his Scottish songs, now reverently praised and eulogized by men of all nations, can think of old Scotland and Scottish men of letters and song—linked with Scottish history and Scottish fame, though the land of the Scots has sent forth many men in all walks of life to every country, to every trade and to every national enterprise.

The lyric poet whose songs will never perish and who is the poet of the human heart whose strings Bobby Burns played upon while he lived and ever will keep the heart warm with brilliant rays of lightness and song of undying fame, was born on Jan. 25, 1759, in a small cottage near Ayr in Scotland.

The following poem on Burns' anniversary was written by Bernard D. Ward of 125 South street:

White driven snow, blaw soft, blaw
O'er moorland dreich, and wind-swept loa,
O'er heather hill and craggy mount,
O'er hamlet and remote town,
Lay down yer mantle, whaur ye be,
O, wintry snaw, blaw soft, blaw free.

Amidst auld Scotia's hallowed soil
He sleeps, free frae the world's turmoil,
Wha's pen despite its faults o'ercom' it,
Mingled a' emotions ran the gamut,
And aye the warms as blith as he,
O, wintry snaw, blaw soft, blaw free.

Sae gran him gently in yer shroud,
O'er Scotsmen aye o' him are proud,
Whaur o'er a rantin' royer turns,
This night he spends wi' Rabbie Burns,
While aye Scot lives, hae ye the deo—
O, wintry snaw, blaw soft, blaw free.

LECTURE ON FRANCO-AMERICAN RACE

A feature of last evening's meeting of the C.M.A.C. was a lecture delivered by J. Armand Gellinas of L'Etolle, who took for his subject "The Franco-American Race." The lecturer was introduced by President J. A. N. and for an hour he entertained his listeners in a most delightful manner. The young man spoke of the first French settlers in this country and also told what they had accomplished in the line of building churches and schools and later referred to the Franco-American press and the good it is doing in America.

In the course of the meeting, which was largely attended routine business was transacted and it was announced that arrangements for the big entertainment, which will be held at the Opera House on the evening of Feb. 25 under the auspices of the association, were progressing. Rev. Fr. Dechand, O.M.I., chaplain of the association, who is at the head of the entertainment, which will be given for the benefit of the poor of the city informed those present that over 60 per cent. of the tickets had already been sold and he assured them that the house on that night.

The entertainment will be given by a group of women and a group of men of this city, who will produce two distinct offerings. The women will play a two-act drama entitled "Anna Marie," and those who will take part in the extra Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Mrs. Albertine Deschamps and Misses Arthemise Ithia, Fleur Ange Brousseau, Grace Dupuis, Juliette Vincent, Blanche Larue, Emilie Gaudette, Caroline Desnoyers, Claire Richard, Celita Morin and Jeannette Chevalier. The rehearsals are under the direction of Miss Angeline Ithia.

The men will play "Le Royal Dindon," a one-act opera, under the direction of Telesphore Malo and those who will participate besides a chorus of 30 male voices are: W. B. Casse, Jr., Ernest J. Dubois, George Labranche, Raymond Alexander and B. J. Laroche. It is expected that the entertainment will be one of the biggest staged in this city in a long time and will be in the form of a bottle of music between the men and women.

DISABLED VETERANS TO CONTINUE FIGHT

SCARE-CROW'S TROUBLES

THE PIG WAS PARTICULARLY DISTRESSED.

No wonder Buskins couldn't understand the poor things blown into the sky by Whizzy Tornado. Because the broom talked Spanish, the cow French, the pig Gaelic, the wheebarrow Italian and so, according to the families they belonged to.

But Nancy and Nick had the language charm that their old friend Magic Mushroom had given them and had no trouble at all finding out the troubles of the poor wind-blown creatures. The pig was particularly distressed because, he said, with tears rolling down his cheeks, the wind had blown all the curl out of his tail!

Buskins and Nick laughed, but Nancy patted him consolingly. "Why, I guess he feels as bad as little girls do who have no curls at all," she declared. "Bobby Brown used to cry all the time until her mother—Why, I know what I'll do. Mr. Pig, I'll do what Mrs. Brown did. Betty's hair, I'll put a curl on your tail!" Which she did—there being plenty of paper and all sorts of pins—and Piggy went away squealing with delight.

"The broom was jabbering away at a great rate, but Nick made out his trouble at once. 'He says he was a perfectly good scare-crow before the storm,' said he, 'but the wind came along and blew off his arms and all his clothes.'

"Well," said practical Nancy, looking around. "That's easily fixed. There's lots of straw lying everywhere and, dear knows, there are more sticks than anything else. We've enough stuff for a hundred scare-crows—clothes 'n' all. There's a nice old coat right there! Whizzy did us one good turn anyway."

So the broom was fixed as good as new in a very few minutes. "It would not mind so much he apologized happily," but it's corn-plaining time, and the crows where I come from are thicker than bees."

and in that event yield interest at the rate of about 3 1/2 per cent per annum compounded semi-annually. The $25 certificate bears the portrait head of Theodore Roosevelt, the $100 certificate that of Washington, and the $1000 certificate that of Lincoln. The new certificates are issued only in registered form, in order to afford protection against loss and theft, and will be recorded on the books of the treasury department in Washington. The name and address of the owner on each certificate will be inscribed at the time of issue. The terms of the certificates have been much simplified as compared with previous issues, and the offering is on a basis which should prove particularly attractive to small investors.

The limit of holdings has been increased by the act of congress approved November 23, 1921, from $1000 to $5000. This change makes the certificates attractive for the investment of trust funds and the surplus funds of labor, fraternal, church, and similar organizations which seek an investment of intermediate length, with absolute safety and a satisfactory income return.

The new certificates are now on sale at the Lowell postoffice and thousands of other offices throughout the country and may also be obtained at the federal reserve banks and such banks and other agencies as may qualify for the purpose.

Treasury saving stamps in the $1 denomination, non-interest bearing, will continue on sale at postoffices and other agencies until further notice as a convenience to those who wish to accumulate the purchase price of the new certificates through stamps.

The new offering means that postal savings and treasury savings activities have now been co-ordinated into one peace-time savings program, under which the postoffice department and the treasury will join to advance postal savings for the deposit of savings and treasury savings certificates for investment. The consolidation of postal savings and treasury savings facilities into a single government savings system preserves and improves the best features of each. The plan is designed to stimulate the accumulation of savings by accepting deposits in amounts of $1 or more through the postal savings banks which are being conducted in the postoffices, and to encourage investment by offering treasury savings certificates on more attractive terms, in direct sale and on conversion of postal savings deposits. In order that government savings facilities may be available throughout the country, the postoffice department is now extending postal savings to many additional postoffices, and the new issue of treasury savings certificates has already been distributed to several thousand postoffices. The sale will gradually be extended to other postoffices as the demand broadens. Postal savings deposits may be exchanged at postal savings offices for treasury savings certificates, and interest will be allowed on deposits withdrawn for this purpose at the current postal savings rate for each full month up to the first day of the month in which the exchange is made.

The small war-time treasury securities, comprising the 25-cent thrift stamp and the $5 war-savings stamp, are accordingly being discontinued, effective December 31, 1921, but the thrift stamps outstanding will be accepted at face value for the new treasury savings securities, or will be redeemed at face value in cash at postoffices. The main reliance for the accumulation of small savings for investment in treasury savings certificates will henceforth be postal savings deposits, and now that special provision has been made for the conversion of these deposits, the government has a unified and effective savings system, with the 10-cent postal saving stamp, postal saving deposits from $1 upward, and $1 treasury saving stamp and the $25, $100, and $1000 treasury savings certificates.

In undertaking this movement for peace-time savings the government looks forward with confidence to the renewed co-operation of all helpful agencies. There can be no question about the need for saving, nor of this country's capacity to save. By offering a uniform and comprehensive means of accumulating and investing money, the government hopes to furnish an incentive for saving, to encourage savings and investment in government securities, and at the same time to stimulate savings activities generally. An active response to the government's savings movement should accomplish three main objects: It will aid the government in the current financing of its requirements; it will make for greater national prosperity, and it will increase the personal happiness and individual welfare of those who save.

LICENSE COMMISSION HOLDS HEARINGS

On a complaint of having gambling machines on his premises, John Jamis was given a hearing before the license commission, last night. Attorney George H. Toye, representing Jamis, asked for a stay of judgment until the machine's legality is finally determined, since it is understood that the manufacturers of the device are to test its constitution by the court. The matter was taken under advisement. Jamis recently was fined $50 in the district court.

MELLON'S REASON FOR Harold Lloyd's New Salary OPPOSING BONUS Is Placed at $1,800,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Congressional leaders preparing to carry out the administration's plan to put through a soldiers' bonus bill were analyzing today the statement of the treasury's reasons for a continued opposition to the bonus as transmitted in a letter from Secretary Mellon to Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee.

Secretary Mellon declared that any attempt to provide for the bonus through use of the principal and interest of the foreign debt to this country would be "futile as well as unwise," and that an attempt to do so through new government borrowings would be "dangerous in the extreme."

If there is to be a bonus, however, the secretary said, it "must be provided for through taxation, and through taxation in addition to the taxes imposed by existing law."

U. S. TO NEGOTIATE NEW TREATY WITH GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—President Harding had under consideration today with indications of early approval, a proposal that the United States negotiate a new treaty with Germany to create a commission for arbitration of private damage claims growing out of the world war.

Suggested at a White House dinner conference last night between the president, Secretary Hughes and republican leaders of the senate and house, the proposed arbitration treaty, while understood not to have been definitely decided upon was said to have been favorably viewed by the president.

Agreement was said to have been reached at the conference also for a recall of the $5,000,000 loan made to Liberia during the war.

After Using It Twenty Years

Mr. Fred N. Henderson of Orono, Maine, writes, "I consider the Tonic, 'L.F.' Atwood Medicine, the best remedy for headaches, loss of appetite, dyspepsia, and as a cathartic. You may use my name in pursuing it." Many others have found it a faithful friend, always dependable and helpful.

NORMA SHEARER, SHE WAS EUGENE O'BRIEN'S LEADING LADY IN "CHANNING OF THE NORTHWEST" AND IS NOW BEING STARRED IN A NEW FILM.

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Harold Lloyd's new contract with Pathé is said to call for $300,000 for each picture and the production of six pictures a year. That would make his income $1,800,000 a year. That is more than the fixed sum called for by Chaplin's contract.

However, Lloyd will have to pay the cost of production of his picture. And Chaplin is paid a percentage above a certain gross on his pictures. Therefore, it is highly probable that Chaplin's salary is greater than Lloyd's.

But $1,800,000 sounds big, stupefying, in these days when many in the industry say that admissions must come down and that the first step toward that end is the reduction of star salaries.

Yet when one considers the merit of the entertainment offered by Chaplin, Lloyd and Keaton as compared to that offered by stars of screen dramas, it appears that they should receive much larger salaries.

The comedian is an individual entertainer. He is constantly in the action in every picture in which he appears. His own acting is the criterion of his films.

Few stars of the dramas can "hog" picture after picture without becoming boring. The story is still the for-thing in drama while the star is paramount in comedies. That is because the comic star is recognized in his own individuality. If the dramatic star were thus recognized the drama would be marred.

Coming Pictures

An interesting list of new productions has just been announced by Paramount. This writer believes it to be the most significant announcement made by American producers in many months. It points to the growing perception of the producers that the average American audience possesses intelligence that demands something more than sugary romances or blood-curdling thrillers.

"If Winter Comes," A. E. M. Hutchinson's best seller is to be filmed in Europe by John S. Robertson with James Kirkwood in the leading role. William DeMille's next production is to be Rachel Crother's "Nice People" with an all-star cast.

June Mathis is now writing the scenario of Ithaca's stage, "Blood and Sand," in which Olin Skinner is now appearing. Randolph Valentino will play Skinner's role and Debe Danilev and May McAvoy will support him.

The two that hold the most promise of being meritorious pictures are "If Winter Comes" and "Nice People." Robertson, who will direct the former, was responsible for "Sentimental Tommy" and "Footlights," two films which retained the atmosphere and spirit of their story sources. "If Winter Comes" is truly a great book.

"Nice people" does not hold the wealth of material contained in the Hutchinson story, but William DeMille proved in "Miss Laid Leth" and "What Every Woman Knows" that he has a keen appreciation of an author's viewpoint and that he is the peer of directors in character development.

The one note in the list that jars upon this writer's nerves is the selection of Randolph Valentino to play a role that has been played by Olin Skinner in "Camille" and "The Sheik." Valentino did no more than look handsome. He must return to the form he displayed in "The Four Horsemen" if "Blood and Sand" is to be effectively done.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatrical Own Press Agents)

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

"Not Yet Marie," which is one of the most popular musical comedies, with original lyrics, comedy, music and situations, is being most popularly presented at the H. F. Keith theatre this week, by a cast of competent principals and a very fetching chorus of models. It is a modern, high grade, fast-moving production from great to last and its initial performance attracted almost record-breaking crowds. Willie Solar, who is also on this bill, is an international musical comedy star who possesses individuality and real novelty in his work. Solar is one of the funniest men we have known here. Other acts on the bill are: Grey and Old Rose, Mack and Larue, Helen Tiernan, and LaRue, Vernon and Helen Tiernan.

RIALTO THEATRE

If you like Norma Talmadge—and most every person who likes a moving picture does—you should go to the Rialto theatre today and see her last appearance in "The Wonderful Thing," a picture that is classic among other things. It is a production that introduces rich comedy and tense drama and is bound to suit persons of varied tastes. On the same program is "The Great Hall and Gail Kato" in "Empty Arms," also a comedy, "Wet But Dry," and an up-to-date set of Kinegrams. Beginning tomorrow, the Rialto theatre has a new change of program, introducing high class attractions.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square theatre of "Her Own Money," starring Ethel Clayton, and "Back Pay," with Seena Owen in the leading role. These are two of the best dramatic features shown here this season and if you have not already witnessed them, don't miss this final opportunity.

The second part of the week, beginning with the Thursday matinee, the outstanding attractions will be "Disraeli," starring George Arliss, the noted actor of the legitimate stage, and "White Hands," a melodramatic production with popular Hobart Bosworth in the leading role.

In "Disraeli" not only will Merrimack Square theatre patrons have an opportunity of seeing the distinguished actor in his greatest stage character, but they will also see other members of an all-star cast supporting the noted actor. Among the latter will be Louise Huff, Mrs. William, Noel Steele and Reginald Denny.

"Disraeli" is not an historical play. The man he fouls is a Park who shows the life and times of 60 years ago, together with something of the opposition encountered by the Hon. Benjamin Disraeli, M.P., the great statesman who on two occasions was designated by Queen Victoria to be her prime minister. The plot contains two love stories and the latter will be Louise Huff, Mrs. William, Noel Steele and Reginald Denny.

desert and is of the most thrilling character. A comedy and the International News will complete the bill.

OPERA HOUSE

Miss Marguerite Fields and her own company are scoring one of the real stage triumphs of the season in the presentation of the recent dramatic sensation, "Cornered," at the Opera House this week. Miss Fields has seldom been seen to better advantage. The versatility reflected in her endeavors of the past are again reflected, while the treatment accorded the other characters, by the engaging cast is superb.

"Cornered" is due to rank with the best things that the stock stage has given Lowell in many years. See it and be convinced. A few good seats left for the remaining performances.

THE STRAND

"Live and Let Live," Christy Cabanne's great drama of life, will be shown for the last time today at The Strand with Miss du Pont as the picture story and must be seen to be fully appreciated. Earle Williams in "Bring Him In" is another of these great Northwest stories, while the comedy and weekly are excellent contributions to a high grade program.

For the last three days of the week, starting with matinee on Thursday, Tom Mix, the cowboy film favorite—the man who never falls—will be seen in his newest western story "The Night Horseman," a story based on the popular novel, "Wild Geese." Mix again enacts the role of Whistling Dan, a character now well known and admired by movie fans. The offering has all of the interesting elements of a Mix production. "False Kisses," with Miss du Pont as the star is the other feature that will help round out a superb program for the patrons. Don't miss it.

Referendum Vote on Packers' Strike

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 25.—Striking packing house workers throughout the country have been directed to vote tomorrow on whether the packing strike, in effect since Dec. 5, shall be called off. This became known late last night when a letter signed by officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen, calling for a referendum vote, was received by local packing house workers and union officials. The letter said that hope of government intervention in the trouble between packing houses and employees had been abandoned and it was thought best to hold a referendum on calling off the strike.

Table Bill to Modify Prohibition Laws

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 25.—The city council last night refused to adopt a resolution sponsored by the Chicago city council which called for modification of the prohibition laws to permit the manufacture of beer and light wines. The aldermen were tied on the vote and the matter was tabled by the voice of the mayor. Much interest was aroused as this city was commonly termed "the wettest city in the United States" before prohibition because of the distilleries here.

PELLETIER DENOUNCED

Called Traitor to Public by
Allen in Closing Arguments
—Case in Hands of Court

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—The trial of Dist. Atty. Joseph C. Pelletier was brought to a dramatic close yesterday when Atty. Gen. J. Weston Allen, at the close of a five-hour plea for Pelletier's removal, flung back the "Watch and Ward" cry of the defense and its "appeal to racial and religious prejudice" in a peroration reeking with barbed-wire invective.

"Traitor in office, barterer of official powers, were some of the phrases hurled at the Suffolk district attorney who was not, nor had been for several hours, in the courtroom to hear them. The sword of justice was placed in his hands and he has made of it a highwayman's club," cried Pelletier's prosecutor in a voice strained by passion.

"He has used the scales of justice to weigh the price of corrupt favors," "Like Esau of old, he has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage," Pelletier's failure to testify himself

"Diapepsin" for Bad Stomach, Indigestion

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" now! In five minutes your stomach feels fine. Don't bother what upset your stomach or which portion of the food did the damage. If your stomach is sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; you belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion, if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless antacid is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only 60 cents for a large case at drug stores.—Adv.

was a target for persistent verbal sharpshooting by the attorney general, who contended that this must be judged against him.

Repeatedly in the prolonged review of evidence Pelletier was linked with Cookley, "the man who was selling him out." That they divided "the profits of a partnership in crime" was the judgment which the attorney general demanded from the evidence of bank deposits and withdrawals.

Watch and Ward Cry a Screen
"The hue and cry against the Watch and Ward society and the Bar Association and the Union club was but a screen to hide their guilty deeds," cried Mr. Allen contemptuously. "As the man in the ancient fable cried 'Wolf, wolf,' but when the wolf came at last they believed him no longer and left him to his fate, so the cry of 'Watch and Ward' and the appeal to racial and religious prejudice for a time deceived the public; but it is no longer. Such deception has masked the truth. But the mask is torn away and the evil purpose revealed."

MARKETING DISCUSSED AT CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Marketing was the general subject for discussion at today's open session of the National Agricultural conference.

The committee, which organized yesterday and assigned duties of their duties to sub-committees, were prepared to get down to work today following the conference session.

Delegates expressed keen interest in the subject of commodity financing, which is in the hands of the committee on agricultural credits and insurance.

This committee is expected to make recommendations for providing farmers with working capital on terms of equality with financial aid available to other industries. Some form of crop insurance also is expected to be recommended.

ANTI-GAMBLING BILL

Drastic Penalties for Gambling on Sports and Contests of All Kinds

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 25.—A bill to impose drastic penalties upon those who gamble upon sports and contests, whether of man, bird, beast or machine, will be considered at a public hearing before the committee on legal affairs tomorrow morning. Holders of stakes also are made by the bill subject to the same drastic punishments.

The bill provides that "whoever keeps a building or room or any part thereof or occupies any place with apparatus, books or any device for the purpose of registering bets or of buying or selling pools, upon the result of a trial or contest of skill, speed or endurance of man, bird, beast or machine, or upon the result of a game, competition, election, or whatever is present in such place engaged in such business of employment, or being such keeper, occupant or person present, as aforesaid, registers such bets, or buys and sells such pools, or is concerned in buying or selling the same; or, being the owner, lessee, or occupant of a building or room, or part thereof, or private grounds, knowingly permits the same to be used or occupied for any such purpose or therein kept, exhibited, used or employed, or knowingly permits to be therein kept, exhibited, used or employed, any device or apparatus for registering such bets, or for buying or selling such pools, shall be punished by a fine of not more than two thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not more than one year."

Another section permits any police officer to arrest without a warrant any person in possession of a pool ticket.

Before the committee on judiciary tomorrow there will be a bill providing that any city or town shall be liable, to the same extent as a business corporation, for the acts or omissions of its officers, agents and employees.

The committee on public service will consider three bills, one providing that, in times of industrial depression, the mayor of any city and the selectmen of any town may suspend the civil service rules and regulations and employ whomsoever they see fit in public work; another for the formulation of uniform regulations to govern the height of applicants for police and fire service, placing the minimum height at 5 feet and 7 inches; and a third, on a petition of the Massachusetts Police association, for a clarified law with respect to the rights of police officers whom it is sought to remove, suspend or lower in rank.

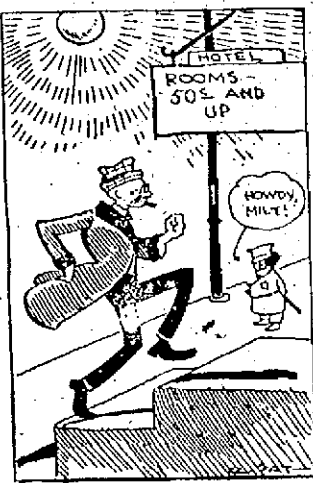

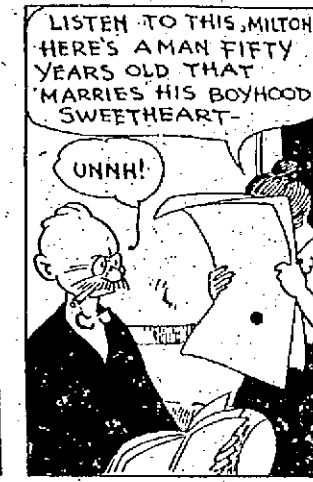

Before the committee on education tomorrow there will be a hearing on a bill authorizing each school committee to request school teachers to devote a part of each morning and afternoon session of school to instruction of pupils in the principles and methods of "safety drill," particularly with reference to the dangers incident to jumping on and off street cars, automobiles and other vehicles, and to emphasize the importance of constant watchfulness when going to and from school and when crossing streets.

A still alarm was sent in at 5:53 o'clock yesterday afternoon for a slight blaze in the motor of an electric car in Merrimack street. At 12:10 o'clock this morning an overheated boiler in the cellar of the fruit store at 350 Merrimack street, was responsible for a telephone alarm.

BURIAL OF THE POPE

As the burial of Pope Benedict XV takes place in the city of Rome, the whole Christian world will pause in solemn reverence and contemplation. It is his illness was cognizant of the universal sympathy caused by his rather sudden death, he could not fail to rejoice that much of the bitterness with which the papacy has been regarded in non-Catholic circles, has recently been overcome by the general response to the appeal sent out primarily from the Vatican to get back to the true Christian principles of justice, brotherly love and devotion to God.

To bring about such a revival of the religious spirit, where before it was spurred and scoffed at as something dangerous and only fit for the acceptance of the feeble minded, was one of the chief aims of Pope Benedict's life; and in that he was signally successful.

Without the commanding brilliancy of Leo XIII, Pope Benedict accomplished a great deal, not only for the church in general, but in recognition of all that is good, from whatever source it comes. His policy was one of conciliation by the gentle arts of peace and Christian tolerance; and it was through the application of this spirit that he achieved his chief victories in restoring friendly relations with France and Germany and even overcoming to a great extent, the policy of opposition that so long existed between the Vatican and the Quirinal. Today the "Non-Entente" rule is a dead letter, and Italian Catholics no longer refuse to vote in local and national elections. Pope Benedict, realizing that by participating in such elections, they can do much to check the progress of atheism and communism.

Ascending the papal throne soon after the outbreak of the world war, Pope Benedict was confronted with some very difficult problems and it is understood that German diplomats used every subterfuge to induce this Pontiff to espouse their cause. Against such appeals, he stood firmly although it was only when he heard Cardinal Mercier's story of German atrocities in Belgium, that he realized to what an extent the German diplomats had endeavored to impose upon the Vatican. Whatever Cardinal Mercier said or did after his interview with Pope Benedict had the cordial approval of the pope even when the Belgian churchman denounced German atrocities in the most scathing manner.

Pope Benedict always showed a deep interest in the United States and repeatedly gave evidence of his appreciation of what Americans had done for the church and particularly what the Knights of Columbus did to aid in the alleviation of suffering during the great war. It is a gratifying fact that religious liberty is fast disappearing from the earth and while this is due in a measure to the fact that all denominations fought shoulder to shoulder in the world war, yet Christian tolerance and charity was one of the great principles most strongly advocated by the late pope and one which seems to be taking deep root all over the world. As an indication of this spirit, it is worthy of note that in a Protestant church in Boston on Sunday, the minister not only expressed sympathy with the Catholic church in the passing of the supreme pontiff but also prayed that she might have divine guidance in the selection of his successor.

Pope Benedict certainly left the world much better than he found it. He occupied the chair of Peter about seven years or about the average length of the reign of all popes during the 1500 years of the church's existence.

The death of the pontiff and the selection of his successor direct attention very forcibly not only to the authority of the church, but to her absolute indestructibility. After triumphing over the persecution of ages, she stands today practically the only institution coming down from the days when the Savior established His church on earth. The new pope will be chosen in accordance with the fixed laws and usages provided and will assume the responsibilities of supreme guide in all matters of faith and morals of the hundreds of millions of Catholics scattered throughout the universal world. Popes may come and popes may go, but the church lives on without interruption; and thus she has passed through all the wars, plagues, persecutions and vicissitudes of nineteen centuries, always holding up to the eyes of men their duty to God and to one another, always standing firmly against injustice and wrong and if we are to judge of her future from her past she will so continue till the end of time.

MASSACHUSETTS AGAIN

Final reports on the wonderful work accomplished by the Massachusetts Halifax Health commission are just coming in. They contain a wealth of detail that proves the great value of that commission and shows what Massachusetts can do in an emergency. It is a record worthy to be proud of, and all New England, for that matter, can boast of having done the same thing in a mighty way, when the great call for help came from our friends beyond the border.

The activities of the health commission since the Halifax disaster have been many, for much suffering followed in the wake of the explosion and fire and there are still several thousand men, women and children to be tenderly cared for. Today more than 2500 persons are receiving medical, dental and health advice in the various clinics supported by Massachusetts funds.

SEEN AND HEARD

Fighting fire in zero weather, would not be a job to our liking.

"Doe" Bartlett is a philosopher. He says the less you know about people the longer you will retain their friendship.

If the other fellow doesn't talk back it must not be taken for granted that he can't think of anything to say. There's no way the milder of a hot-headed remark can be thought severely punished than to be ignored.

A Word a Day

Today's word is paragonous. It's pronounced "pah-see-mo-ni-uh" with accent on the third syllable. It means things that are generous, grasping, "light." It comes from Latin "parcere," to spare. Companion words—paragonousness, paragonously. It's used like this—"He would not be so paragonous he thought not big enough to eat."

Back to the Farm

What you could buy for $1 before the war now costs $1.75 in the store. This is the latest estimate of the living report from the National Industrial Conference board. The figure is a lot lower in small towns. The man who insists on living in the city has to pay the price. The solution of the city man's cost of living is to move to the farm. He might not get much for his crops, but he at least would be sure of a living.

Chisel Mania

New York has an exhibition of the most advanced art—chisel rayonnism. From Russia. The pictures look like an explosion in a paint factory. Sympathetic critics describe this "art" as "characteristic extensions of the artist's restless artistic consciousness." That will make sculptors grin. They know that subtle and futuristic artists merely have diseases of the eyes, usually nystagmus. They paint life as they see it—distorted. Even Pyrus de Chavannes needed spectacles.

The Fat Woman

It is easy for a fat woman to reduce, says Dr. John Hunt Peters of Los Angeles. All the fat woman has to do is go on a strict diet. Everybody knows that. But Dr. Peters says that if you are a fat woman, nothing to compare with the agony of a dieting fat woman when she sees a box of candy or smells the fragrance of a freshly-baked pie or roasts of beef. Trouble with fat women, dieting, is that they take the plunge too suddenly. They should taper off, like the alcoholics getting step by step on the water wagon.

Smack That Child

A mother was reproving her little 6-year-old girl for being naughty. "If you are so disobedient and disobedient," she said, "you will not be loved, and when you grow up you will not have any friends." The child replied at once: "I shall not want any friends, for I shall get married. 'O, no,' you might say. But I shall get married. If you are disagreeable, for gentlemen are particular." After a short pause, the little girl remarked: "Well, mamma, I don't think daddy was particular."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

TYNGSBORO CAMPS ARE BROKEN INTO

Vandals are at work among the camps surrounding Johnson's corner in Tyngsboro, and the extent of the damage done to the furnishings of the camps which have been broken into, including breakage of doors, windows and dishes, leads to the conclusion by the authorities that the responsible party or parties must be found.

The owners of the locked camps are Thomas Brown of West Chelmsford, Mrs. Emily Smith of New Bedford, Edward A. Jones, Albert B. Brooks and a Lowell man known as Glenning.

Other breaks have been made in the section in the past, but were not accompanied with such damage to the property as in the present case. The theory is that the robbers were unable to find the valuables they sought and revenge themselves by destroying everything at hand.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

A proof of the far-sightedness of putting storm boards upon the Centralville bridge was never better demonstrated than last Sunday during which time the velocity of the wind attained about hurricane force. The wind swept down the Merrimack river in a cold, steady sweep, making a journey across the structure the least thrilling. But the boards helped in a great measure to break the force of the wind.

Met an oldtimer yesterday and he reminded me that it was the 74th anniversary of the discovery of gold in California. Since that great discovery it may be noted that Alaska, featured by that great rush to the Klondike, came to the fore as the gold producing area of this country. But the Alaska report shows that California produced $11,000,000 worth of gold in 1920 against one-half that much for Alaska.

Residents of Christian Hill have been treated to more slippery walking than winter than ever before, according to some of the latest residents there. The entire hill is covered with ice, at least the places where one walks are, and navigation on the streets is both difficult and dangerous. "Floes," as falls are commonly called, have been many this winter. There are few Christian Hillers who have not at least had one spill to their credit. In most cases the victims have jumped up laughing, but at the same time rubbing a tender spot, a reminder of the good old winter time and the joys of living on "the hill." The people in other sections of the city may laugh now, but the laugh will be reversed during the summer months when the lower sections are sweltering in the heat while the "hillies" are enjoying the breezes which start in the neighborhood of the reservoir.

There are two huge humps of ice on the sidewalk in Merrimack street that have caused more or less inconvenience to people going towards city hall. These two humps are located between the junction of Central and Merrimack streets and Palmer street and run from the buildings clear to the gutter. And the deplorable condition is they are caused by drain pipes coming down from the buildings. It does seem the authorities might prevent a great deal of trouble by insisting that the drains be shunted in another direction, if for no other reason than to protect the city in the matter of a civil suit, should someone be injured as the result of a fall.

I have observed that there is a constant increase in the number of ladies who carry books with them to a local theater to while away the time between acts, and the thought has occurred to me that if a man were to do likewise he would, at the very least, be regarded as eccentric. Yet it does not seem so long a time since the legitimate drama was consistently featured at the old Academy of Music and the Opera house, and the boys all carried their favorite literature, mostly five-cent weeklies, in their back pockets, and read it while waiting for the curtain to rise and in the intermissions for changes of scenes. Even later at the old Hathaway, the boys who "took" the top balcony long before the opening of the show, in the hope of obtaining front seats, always brought their reading matter.

I notice that Frank Ricard, Central street jeweler, has the window display of the Elks' Charity hall, which is to be held in Associate hall on February 1. It is customary for business men, who are Elks, to decorate their places for this event. Elk insignia of every description is found in the display. Two large Elks heads, finely mounted, are placed at opposite sides of the window and suspended from them by means of purple ribbons, tied on the noses of the animals is a large Elks' clock advertising the affair. Streamers running around the entire top of the window explain the cause of the display.

A sentiment is gradually gaining strength among the members of the local League of Catholic Women that the size of their membership demands larger quarters for the proper conduct of activities. I have learned that at a recent meeting of Massachusetts presidents, in Boston, with 72 branches represented, a report of progress was sought from the president of the league of the reported membership ranging from 200 to 300, with one of 500. The local president, Mrs. J. T. Donohue, reported that the gain in membership in Lowell this season was 100, the neighborhood of 700, whereas the total membership figures. Upon learning that it was nearly 8000, and that the organization's activities included proposed courses in art and literature, he declared that the Lowell league must have a club house. No definite action has been taken as yet, however.

Berton Braley's
Daily Poem
DAILY IN OUR
ALLEY

Of all the girls that are so smart there's few as smart as Sally. It is with excitement and she bows 'em down the alley! She has the grace, she has the form (The form, I mean, for bowling). The very ten-pins fall for her. When Sally starts to rolling!

Each frame she plays, within my heart she sets the blood to spinning. What care I if we lose the game? Her ways are always winning. No matter what the figures be, tipsy the scores tally. She makes a perfect score with me. When bowling down our alley.

And whether Sally hits the pins Or misses them completely, There's one thing I am certain of. She bowls me over neatly; She played her game well from the start.

A clever girl is Sally. She makes a ten-strike on my heart. When bowling down our alley. (Copyright, 1922, The Lowell Sun)

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS MINSTREL SHOW

The annual Knights of Columbus minstrel show, always regarded and looked forward to as the best of the season, will be given in Associate hall on Friday evening. The proceeds of the show will be donated to the K. of C. Guild, one of the city's eminently worthy charities.

The cast men—always the feature attraction of a minstrel show—are five in number, and include the best talent in that line in the city. Daniel P. Brennan, George S. Sullivan, Chas. Clancy, Edward D. Cawley and Frank T. McCarlin are all funny men beyond compare, and their song numbers and witty repartee will convince the audience.

The soloists are also artists of prominence and talent. The Roane brothers, James P. and John E. Jr., are heard with delight each season by many audiences. Thomas J. Tobin, Timothy J. Finnegan and John Doyle are well known as concert singers, and each has a following which will surely be on hand for Friday night's show.

A character specialty, presented by James E. Donnelly, assisted by Misses Alice and Allen Donnelly, should prove one of the best numbers in the program, since Mr. Donnelly's fame as an entertainer has travelled far beyond the limits of his native city, and his two assistants are performers of extraordinary ability.

A chorus of 100 voices will have a responsible and melodious part in the program. Under the capable direction of William P. Thornton, the musical director of K. of C. shows for many years, this chorus, according to those who have listened to their work at various parties, that they took part in show given in Lowell council. With a splendid opening chorus they start the show off with plenty of pep, and on the end men's songs and in the finale they will be very much present.

William L. Howard will act as interactor, and should be excellent in that capacity, and Charles P. Minet, the well-known orchestra leader, is accompanist.

WILL LOCATE HERE

Cooper Wall Paper Store

Coming to Lowell

The 28th store in the chain of Cooper Wall Paper stores of Springfield and Worcester is to locate in Lowell right away. Oscar D. Dillman, owner of the concern, having leased from the S. S. Kresge Co., a large store room on the west end of the new corner of the Hildreth building, 45 Merrimack street. The latter part of February the formal opening of the new store will take place. The lease was negotiated through the offices of William W. Draw of New York and T. H. Elliott & Son of this city.

The Cooper chain of stores covers nearly all of the eastern and central states of the country. The present New England stores are located in Worcester, Springfield, Bridgeport and Hartford. High grade wall papers are sold, coming direct from the mills, and selling at 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 cents a roll, with nothing higher than the latter figure. Lowell is regarded by Mr. Dillman as a banner city for a live up-to-date wall paper business and he is enthusiastic over the prospects here.

The new store room will be 22 feet wide and 55 feet long, with a large skylight in the centre and one large show window at the front.

More than 300 designs of wall papers will be shown in the new store. The lines of 1922 patterns include the Duplex sunfast, outdoors, grassclothes, jaspers, stripes, chintz, varnished lilacs, chambrays, pressed goods, tapestries, cretonnes, friezes and cutout borders.

Mr. Dillman's reasons for locating in Lowell were simple enough, he said. "We wrote to several chambers of commerce," he stated, "and received a very prompt reply from George F. Wells, secretary-manager of the Lowell chamber of commerce. Not only did he answer the questions we asked, but he helped us to locate quarters. I was impressed with the city on my first visit, and after learning what a fine trading centre it is, I promptly decided to open a store here."

WOMAN APPEALS FOR ASSISTANCE

A woman who states that she is employed in a local mill a few days each week, has appealed to the police by letter for assistance. She writes that she always hands over her pay to her husband and that for the past five months he has succeeded in paying her nothing. She has been living in a gambling resort, and the family is quite destitute, since the merchant of the quarter have refused to give any further credit, on account of outstanding bills. She says that she fears the support of the family is in danger, and her husband might learn of it and make trouble, but she earnestly requests the police to do something to relieve her deplorable condition.

SNAPSHOTS OF ALASKA MASSES FOR LATE POPE

Trailing North With Rotarians
—Land of Former Gold Bugs Described

Tarpon fishing in southern waters around Florida and the "road to Cuba," and big game hunting in northwestern British Columbia and Alaska comprised the tempting desert for the weekly dinner of the Rotarians at the Royal club yesterday afternoon. A. E. Vincellotte of Pittsburgh, electrical expert and traveler-Rotarian, was the speaker and made the lecture decidedly interesting from every point of view.

Attendance records are creeping upward at the weekly membership rallies of the local Rotarians. Ninety is the promised land so far, and the Lawrence Hotel will have to row up stream a little harder to beat it.

Yesterday's entertainment committee included Chairman Ernest L. Kimball, Rotarian known as "Kimmey," Paul Leary and Robert A. Kennedy. Chairman Kimball put over one of the finest entertainment of the season, and no Rotarian had a better time watching the travel pictures and listening to the Pittsburgh visitor than "Kimmey" himself, who planned nearly everything.

Better days are ahead for local Rotarians, too, for announcement was made by President Thompson that the 15th anniversary of International Rotary is to be celebrated by the Lowell clubmen on Feb. 23, with an attractive program arranged by Brothers Fairbank, Grasse, Pollard and a few other live wires. William A. Mitchell will be done of next week's attendance contest medal.

Among the guests who got a royal reception for the sporting events, were President Dr. C. H. Livingston and Secretary Willie L. Holt of the local Fish & Game association. "50" Freeman got in for a few appreciations, too. Mr. Freeman reported on the North Adams trip. Rotarians in that city giving the Lowell visitors a warm reception the other night. The banquet was highly spoken of.

Various colored views taken by Bro. Vincellotte of Pittsburgh while down around Florida waters fishing for tarpon, sea bass and other trophies, were shown on the big screen and fascinated the Rotarians. One day he snapped a big "chum" with a bullet for the first time in three months of fishing. The next day he shot a shark on the big hook, and the third trip brought a luck member of the rod family, name unknown. One fish had the "black fever" and actually flew 30 feet into a nearby tree on shore, staying there.

The Pittsburgh man exhibited photos of the old Alaskan objects, the "oldest tree in America" and "the oldest house," which every state has on its list of antiquities. Alligators were thick everywhere, 3000 of them being gathered in one pond "faint" Spanish gateways and "The Fountain of Youth" were shown.

Tarpons were easy to get if you could wait long enough for them. One about and also caught them. The 15-pounder kept the Pittsburgh man busy three hours and 50 minutes one day. During that time, he kept alive by drinking spring water, smoking cigarettes and discussing political matters with his wife, who occupied the same boat, but preferred not to fish any more. Her dress was drenched by the fighting fish splashing water all around. The next day they started for the tarpon grounds. Mrs. V. wore a bathing suit.

In the northland, the Rotarian had the finest time of it chasing grizzly bears, fishing, pecking at glaciers five miles wide and 40 miles long and conversing with quaint Indian chieftains who wore plug hats and talked "English." Brown poles were shown some of them 20 feet high, and all picturing Alaskan family history and not religious views or Eschimo etiquette. Indian canoes 30 feet long, hewn out of solid logs, were common sights, the Rotarian said, showing a picture of one.

The speaker's talk covered a 50-day hunting trip in one direction and another 50-day trip after a grizzly. And he got a grizzly, but lost 22 pounds in the "drive." Rainbow trout were few and far between, but he landed some occasionally. Sheep and goats stay on their own domains, and with animals of the north keep pretty much to themselves. For instance, one territory alone is covered with grizzlies, and few other animals are around at any time, with the exception of a few moose far down in the valleys.

Mr. Vincellotte exhibited one picture that looked like a scene. It was a view of the old, old trail, tear-washed and blood-stained by weary, hungry gold seekers, who jammed the northern Alaskan trails back in 1898, hoping to return millionaires. Graves are to be found on either side of the terrible pathway, grim tragedies still are shown by the old trail signs, dugouts and tumbled-down shacks that line the way. The gold trail of 1898 is rarely traveled over nowadays except by wandering tourists, but the traces of a vanished dream are still there.

First of Nine Pontifical High Masses Sung With Grand Solemnity

ROME, Jan. 24 (By the Associated Press).—The first of the nine pontifical high masses for the late Pope Benedict XV was sung this morning with grand solemnity in the basilica of St. Peter's. Simultaneously there were solemn ceremonies in all the great basilicas, including the Lateran and Santa Maria Maggiore.

Meanwhile, the first of the foreign cardinals are momentarily expected to arrive in Rome, and workmen are busily engaged in the Vatican making ready the quarters for the conclave of the sacred college.

All the while, too, mournful crowds continue filling past the catafalque in St. Peter's, upon which lies the body of Benedict XV. Thousands upon thousands of persons were still paying their last tributes today.

Telephone calls are being installed in the apartments of each of the cardinals, so that they will be able to communicate with one another inside the Vatican. The Vatican central office, however, has been cut off from the city exchange.

It is announced the office of the papal secretary of state will remain open during the conclave.

The regular tenants of the apartments overlooking St. Peter's square, where the conclave will be held, already have begun to move out to make room for the cardinals. Carpenters were busy making necessary alterations in the two four-story wings of the building containing 12 apartments.

TO FORM INTERNATIONAL IRISH LEAGUE

PARIS, Jan. 24.—(By the Associated Press).—The world congress of the Irish race decided at today's session to organize an international Irish league, with branches in all countries where there is a sufficient group of persons of Irish descent.

The object expressed by Countess Markievicz at this morning's meeting is to "counteract British propaganda which pictures Irishmen as gorillas." Some of the methods of spreading knowledge and the Irish race already decided upon are the publication of an international Irish "Who's Who," an international Irish newspaper printed in both Gaelic and English, exchanges of Irish professors with universities in other countries; the establishment of scholarships in Irish schools; and the extensive use of moving pictures, a scheme which is being worked out by Eamon de Valera and other members of the organization.

DEFENSE RESTS IN THE GOLDEN WEST CASE

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—The defense in the case of five men charged with handling a motor boat in Plymouth harbor, Boston from the former Canadian fishing schooner Golden West rested today. Tony Carbone of Plymouth, one of the defendants, was the last witness. He said the liquor seized at Plymouth as part of the lot landed there was instead the remnants of a stock of a motor store which he had operated in pre-prohibition days.

Carbone accounted for the fact that he met the Golden West at St. Pierre, Me., where she took on her cargo of alcohol, and again preceded her in her arrival at this port by saying that he was working at St. Pierre for a man who owned the cargo, but several days after the schooner left decided that he wanted to return to his Plymouth home for Christmas.

JURORS SAMPLED BOOZE, SMACKED THEIR LIPS

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—Undeterred by the warning sounded by Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes here yesterday against drinking strange liquor, 10 federal jurors took a chance on a bottle of supposed whisky today and still survived.

They were hearing evidence against four alleged bootleggers. When the prosecutor suggested calling a chemist to testify as to the content of the bottles, Judge Howe countered with a suggestion that the jurors looked as if they were competent to decide for themselves, and ordered a bottle opened. Only two declined to sample the evidence. The rest smacked their lips and grinned.

FRESHMEN FREE FROM PHYSICAL DEFECTS

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 24.—Young men entering Harvard this year were in general remarkably free from serious physical defects. Dr. Roger I. Lee, professor of hygiene, found in physical examinations. It was announced today. Less than one per cent of the men examined were found to have neglected teeth, poor eyesight, requiring the prescription of glasses, or enlarged, diseased tonsils.

Dr. Lee attributed the freedom from physical defects "to the thoroughness of the physical examinations of the schools and to the intelligent interest of the lady in matters that concern the health of their children."

About 48 per cent of the freshmen and 51 per cent of the business school men smoke, according to the statements made by the individuals themselves which, according to Dr. Lee, "may or may not be entirely reliable."

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 24.—Efforts were being made today by the Memphis police to locate relatives of Martin W. WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—A. H. H. Hart, first assistant postmaster general, as a matter of formality, has submitted his resignation along with that of his chief, Postmaster General Hayes, it became known today.

Government Aid For American Shipping

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—Proposals for government aid for American shipping as worked out by the shipping board, were presented to President Harding today by Chairman Lasker and Commissioner Lissner. While the text was not made public, it was understood to propose aid through payment to American ship operators of a certain percentage of the customs receipts from goods imported by them, through provision for membership of crews of American vessels in the naval reserve force with resulting additional pay, and through provisions that a certain proportion of immigrants coming to the United States should come on American ships. The plan which is expected to form the basis of a message to be sent to congress early next month by the president, would put a limit by law on the profits of American operators and bring into play the indirect assistance only when a reasonable profit is not realized without such aid.

Strike Closes Another Knight Mill

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 24.—The Arctic mill at Arctic was closed today as a result of the failure of some of its help to report for work. This is the fifth mill owned by B. B. & R. None of the big mills in the Blackstone Valley has been seriously affected by striking employees.

One fire was in the basement, one in a vacant tenement and two small ones on an upper floor. The damage was several thousand dollars.

MURDER OF BURGLAR

Platonic Love of Burglar for Married Woman Disclosed as Cause of Slaying

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The platonic love of a burglar for a married woman was disclosed as the cause of a slaying today at the trial of William Grubb, for first degree murder.

Taking the stand in behalf of her husband, Mrs. Mary Agnes Grubb testified that George Corcoran—whom Grubb is charged with killing—frequently visited her, bringing her presents of silk stockings, gloves and other flattery taken in his night prowling. She said she permitted Corcoran to keep burglar's tools in her home when he was not using them.

Then, she testified, Grubb surprised the burglar in their home one night, paying into a victim, and shot him to death. She declared her relations with Corcoran had never been more than platonic.

ROME, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—The funeral of Pope Benedict will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, it was announced at the Vatican this morning.

The college of cardinals further decided that the funeral ceremony should be attended only by cardinals, members of the diplomatic corps and representatives of Roman aristocracy.

The body of the pontiff will be placed in the sanctuary in the left lateral aisle of the basilica.

Despite the inclement weather today crowds continued to flock to St. Peter's, drawn largely by expectancy that the funeral would occur this afternoon as up to this morning it had been left indefinite whether the burial would occur today or tomorrow.

RESUME PROBE OF CHARGES

Witness Says He Saw Negro
Shot for Refusing to Help
Cook Cut Bread

Testified While Ambulance
Waited Outside to Take Him to Hospital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Resuming its inquiry into charges of alleged illegal executions of American soldiers overseas, a senate committee was told today by Henry Gentry, negro, of Lawrence, Kas., that in France he saw Maj. Jos. Phillips of Orange, N. J., a negro, shoot William Patterson, a negro private, for refusing to help a cook cut bread.

Gentry, who testified while an ambulance waited outside the senate office building to take him to a hospital to be operated on for appendicitis, said Patterson later died, according to general reports and that so far as he knew, the negro major was not tried.

"Do you know of your own knowledge that Patterson died?" Gentry was asked.

"No, sir, but he went to the hospital and never came back."

The handling of a negro soldier at Belleville, France, was described by Col. James P. Harvey of the army war college, who said the court-martial was composed of seven negro and five white officers, with a negro as judge advocate. The soldier was convicted of assaulting a French woman 20 years old, he said.

Testimony of Charles P. Green, a former service man, previous heard by the committee that nine soldiers were shot and killed by the military police and taken to base hospitals.

Col. Chateau Rouge in December, 1918, was denied by three medical officers on duty at the camp.

A number of men stationed at Is-sur-Tille in 1919, were called to testify as to executions at that post which department reports showed numbered two, but which witnesses appearing here have placed at about 10 or 12.

John McDermott, of Indianapolis, Russell G. Young of Philadelphia, James W. Brown, of Lynbrook, N. Y., and Walter A. McAtee of Copper Hill, Tenn., declared only two soldiers were hanged.

James W. Laflerty of New York city, who as a captain in the quartermaster's corps was stationed at Glevras for nearly two years, testified there was only one execution in that area as listed by the war department. Describing discipline at Glevras as good, Laflerty said there was a lot of talk and feeling after an assistant secretary of war whom he identified as "Mr. Rosenwald" had made a speech there in which he asserted that negroes would be given better treatment after the war.

"The white troops were so bitter about the speech that some of them felt like lynching Rosenwald," said Laflerty.

Members of the committee wanted to identify the assistant secretary of war described by Laflerty as "Rosenwald."

"What was his first name?" asked the chairman.

"I think it was Julius," said the witness. "He made speeches and was represented to be an assistant to Mr. Baker."

"There was a lot of rowing about the speech, but nobody was killed," said Laflerty.

FOREIGN MINISTERS TO MEET IN PARIS FEB. 1

PARIS, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—The meeting of the foreign ministers of France, Great Britain and Italy in Paris, February 1, the calling of which was announced yesterday, will be preceded by full exchanges of views between Paris, London and Rome, with regard to Asia Minor, the subject of the conference. In these exchanges, an effort will be made to reach an agreement as to the French position affecting the Near Eastern question so that the Paris conference will be able to proceed on a definitely outlined program.

It was declared at the foreign office this morning, in connection with the announcement regarding the coming conference, that contrary to the general impression abroad, the French government was not opposed to conferences in general, but holds there should be preparation for them through the regular diplomatic channels.

ARGUMENTS IN LOUD CASE

Fate of Man Accused of Slaying Officer May be in
Hands of Jury Tonight

Attorney, Feeney, Counsel
for Defense, Opens Argu-
ments—Attacks Testimony

CAMBRIDGE, Jan. 25.—The fate of Clarence W. Loud, charged with the murder of Patrolman James A. Preston at Wakefield on the evening of April 9, 1921 probably will be in the hands of the jury tonight. Final arguments were made today.

Attorney John P. Feeney, counsel for Loud, who opened the arguments, attacked the testimony of witnesses who described the automobile seen on Lowell street, near the scene of the murder, as having been similar to a closed car owned by Loud. He declared that the jury should weigh the evidence carefully in that connection. He mentioned also testimony by state witnesses that they saw the automobile "20" on the license plate of the machine, and argued the jury to note that at least one witness who so testified did not recall having seen the numbers the day after the murder, but thought he did months afterwards when he testified at the trial.

Feeney declared consideration of the notebook found on Preston in which the names of Loud and Alice M. Denney were written was most important but that the jurors should remember that police officers like other people were subject to the frailties of mankind.

The defendant's attorney scored the methods used by the police in investigating Loud's possible connection with the murder, declaring the officers did not give Loud a fair show and testified to nothing that might tend to favor him.

"Poor Jim Preston was killed," Feeney said, "and immediately the police sent out its detectives to get evidence against some defendant at any cost."

He pointed to the jurors that the presence of the button of a woman's coat in Loud's automobile had been shown to be without any bearing on the contention that Loud had a woman companion with him the night of the murder.

Mr. Feeney was reviewing Loud's own story told on the witness stand when the afternoon recess was taken. It appeared that he was likely to talk for an hour or more and that it would be late before District Attorney Saltonstall would begin.

FOOD FAIR FOR LOWELL
Big Food Fair Will Open at the Kasino Sometime in April

Lowell will be included in the five cities of this state in which the Massachusetts Retail Grocers and Provision Dealers association will conduct food fairs in the spring. Working in conjunction with the Lowell Retail Grocers and Butchers' association, the state organization plans to exhibit here some time in April. Arrangements are being made to have the fair start here in the Kasino on the week of the 17th.

Alanson Gray of this city, one of the nine directors of the state association and a member of the local organization, has been delegated to look after the enterprise here.

The object of the fair is to put before the people all the different brands of food stuffs used by the day. The fair will be held in the city hall, which will have a chance to display their wares, much the same as in other large exhibitions.

F. P. Prescott of Malden, who so successfully managed the Boston fair held last October, will have charge of the fair in this city as well as in the other places in the Lowell loop which include Worcester, Fall River, Haverhill and Springfield.

If present plans mature the fair will open in Haverhill first and then come here the following week. An attempt is made to have the cities away from each other as far as possible to do the best with long hauls. Mr. Prescott owns, transports and sets up all the equipment necessary for the promotion of the fair. The local association has not taken definite action on the matter yet, according to its president, G. C. Fairburn, but something definite is expected within a few days.

DISCOVER DRUG SMUGGLING RING

Death of Former Shaw Girl
on Train Leads to Disclos-

Investigation Already Has Led to Dismissal of One
Customs Employee

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—Death of Dorothy Wurd, former Shaw girl, on a New York-bound Montreal express last week, has led to the disclosure of an international drug smuggling ring of large proportions, customs officials said today.

Miss Wardell died, it was learned, of one of the customs employees, William Bruce, who accompanied her, was seriously ill when the train reached New York. She was said to have resided somewhere in Vermont.

Investigation following Miss Wardell's death already has led to the dismissal of one of the customs employees, a man being implicated in the suspected plot, it was said, and numerous arrests are promised. The dismissed customs agent is alleged to have passed without inspection, trucks containing drugs and liquor. The phrase, "The truck belongs to my brother," was given to the customs officials, which served to get trucks across the border, unopened.

Show girls are declared to have been used frequently by the ring as carriers of contraband.

PLAN SECRET SESSIONS RUM PLAYED PART IN ERECTION OF COLLEGE

Organization of International Irish League Behind Closed Doors

PARIS, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press)—After a heated debate, the world congress of the Irish race decided today to hold secret sessions for the organization of the International Irish league, the project for which was favorably passed upon by the congress yesterday. This action was hotly contested by several delegates, and much speculation as to its purpose was provoked.

W. J. Brown of Newfoundland, one of the youngest of the delegates, made a vigorous fight for open meetings.

Delegate Cleary of Australia, in discussing the subject, severely berated the press. Edmund de Valera indicated that he also favored secret sessions on the question of trade promotion.

Delegate Brown during his fight against the secret motion, criticized the general attitude of the congress, which he said, had been run in a manner worthy of a backwoods saloon. Delegate Cleary, in replying, said there had been no faithful press reports of the proceedings not even in the Irish press.

Secret of a Good Disposition

A woman who carefully safeguards her health benefits her disposition. She will be happy and attractive to all. The world unfortunately is filled with sweet women who are unhappy because they are held back from usefulness by troubles so common among them. Frivolous and nervousness rapidly destroy good dispositions. Seldom, all worn-out women cannot make happy homes.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of women's health. This is clearly proven by the many letters we are continually publishing in this paper from women who have been restored to health and happiness by its use after years of suffering. Why don't you try it?—Adv.

ERECTION OF COLLEGE

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 25.—West Indian rum, some of it "very good and old," played a large part in the construction of Brown university, according to university historians. They have just discovered among the early records a bill for liquors which grew rapidly as the first building rose. The last three gallons were used to raise the roof.

Tradition relates that at the laying of the cornerstone in 1770, John Brown, merchant, treated the crowd liberally to punch and the accounts show that what began at the cornerstone continued through the outline of the construction.

The items attest the rapidity with which the structure rose. They follow:

June 25, to one gill, W. I. rum, when laying the cornerstone 38, 6d.
 Aug. 8, to two galls, W. I. rum, 12 lbs sugar 1s, when laying the second floor.
 Aug. 25, to four galls, W. I. rum, (very good and old) when laying third floor, 15s.
 Sept. 11, to four galls, W. I. rum, 1 lb sugar, when raising fourth floor, 14s 7d.
 Oct. 5, to 7½ galls, old W. I. rum, when laying fifth floor, 11, 7s 1½d.
 Oct. 17, to 3 galls, W. I. rum when raising roof, 10s, 6d.

LOCAL TAXATION EXEMPTION BILL

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—A bill to exempt from local taxation all tangible personal property which is used in producing income is pending before the general court, and is to be the basis of a public hearing before the committee on taxation on a date soon to be assigned.

The bill will be chiefly of interest to merchants, for it specifically provides that all stock in trade, whether owned by an individual, partnership, trust, association, corporation or individual, shall be exempted from local taxation if it is used solely or chiefly in producing income which is taxable under the present income tax law.

In place of the local tax, at the lo-

WILL SEE THAT HORSES ARE BLANKETED

The Humane society, through assistant Agent Harry Baker, is making a campaign to see that horses are properly blanketed. All day yesterday and today Mr. Baker was visiting the city and in that time he distributed 49 drivers and requested them to cover their horses. Some of the cases included horses left out in the cold while drivers were inside getting warm.

In every case it was found the driver was equipped with a blanket but did not use it. No offense was taken by any of the horses to be blanketed, receiving a short talk on the manner in which horses should be treated in cold weather, the drivers went on promising to be more careful in the future.

The society reports that the past two days have been especially hard on horses who have to be out all day, as the weather is extremely cold and the animals have little time to get warm once they leave the stables in the morning. Some of them are fortunate enough to be driven back to the stables for the noon day meal, but a number of them are required to feed in the open.

The society wants to be fair "to horsemen in this matter, but it will not allow the horses to be inhumanly treated, which is the case if they are allowed to stand without covering and protection from the cold.

A word to the wise has been sufficient in all cases and the society hopes that it will not be forced to press actions for cruelty to animals as a case may be made out under these conditions.

BARBERS VOTE TO REDUCE PRICES

Barber and shavers will be cheaper in local union barber shops after Feb. 8, according to a decree issued last night after the well attended meeting of the barbers' union. The price of a haircut will be 35 cents instead of 50 while a shave will be 15 cents instead of 25.

These prices represent the minimum which may be charged by any shop employing union help. The union does not complicate upon the matter barbers who may charge as high as they wish.

This reduction was favored by the union barbers working in the outskirts of the city, while those in the business center favored the old price, now in vogue. The prices under the new scale will be:

haircut 35c
 Shave 15c
 Hair Dressing 25c
 Shampoo 30c
 Oil Shampoo 60c
 Hair Shampoo 35c
 Hair Tonic 10c
 Toilet Water 10c

ent rate, the bill proposes that the owner of such property shall pay an additional tax of one-half of one percent per annum on his income. Its effect upon property owners, of course, would vary with each individual case, but from the standpoint of the municipality the effect would be that instead of receiving all of the tax, as at present, the municipality would receive only five-sixths of such tax as the state might collect under the income tax law.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results From an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

Indigestion, or rather, ferment, the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by hydrochloric acid. There is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten goes in the stomach much like garbage in a can, forming acid fumes and gases which inflame the stomach like a hot balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Cad Bala and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescent and furthermore, to continue this for a week. While rest follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gases which inflame the stomach, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Cad Bala is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with Bilex and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Adv.

Held For Attempt to Shoot Composer

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Raymond Oberndorf, a young musician, is held by the police today, pending investigation of an attempt last night to shoot Felix Borowski, composer and president of the Chicago Musical College. The young man, believed by the police to be demented, said Borowski was devoted to his young wife, a devotion, Oberndorf insisted, which had caused Borowski to neglect his musical composition and to slight him. Oberndorf, the police say, called at the Borowski home and after a brief conversation, fired two shots, narrowly missing Borowski and his wife, and then beat the composer over the head with the pistol during a desperate struggle.

Six Members of Negro Orchestra Flogged

MAJAH, Pa., Jan. 25.—Six members of Howard's "Whispering Orchestra of Gold" of Columbus, Ohio, (negroes), which has been playing at a hotel, were taken to the outskirts of the city early today, severely beaten by a band of men and told to leave within 24 hours. The leader of the orchestra early last night received a telephone call asking him to play at the new country home of "Mr. Sams." At midnight a car called for them at the hotel. Five miles outside the city it was surrounded by a band of about 75 men and the flogging followed.

to attend the funeral of the late Pope Benedict and were camping in the open air before St. Peter's, in the hope of getting a glimpse of the body. More than half a million persons have filed past the catafalque in the two days past, which the body has been exposed, the crowds, though orderly, taxing the gendarmes charged with keeping them in line.

Meanwhile the foreign cardinals continue to arrive for the conclave of the Sacred College at which the new pontiff will be elected. Cardinal Mercier of Belgium, who is looked upon as somewhat of a "dark horse" in the election, is expected in time for the funeral. It is acknowledged on all sides that he is certain to roll more votes on the first ballot than any other foreign cardinal.

Two Thirds Vote Necessary
Interest in the election centers greatly upon its possible effect on the relations between the Vatican and the Italian government. Cardinal Maffi is represented as being supported by the group favoring rapprochement, while Cardinal Gasparri, now acting head of the church, favors continuance of Benedict's policies of tolerance without recognition. Cardinal Merry del Val, also mentioned as a possible choice, is supported by the faction favoring absolute separation. This group is thought to have more than a majority in the conclave. A two-thirds vote, however, is necessary for election.

O'Connell For Merry del Val
It is considered probable here that Cardinal O'Connell, who is said to belong to the group supporting Merry del Val, will not arrive before the proclamation of the new pope, now will Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, who is said to be one of the group supporting the election of Cardinal Gasparri.
Other cardinals who, it is believed, now, probably will not participate in the opening of the conclave are Belgians, archbishop of Quebec, Cavalloni, archbishop of Rio de Janeiro, and archbishop of Naples. In such an event there will be but 55 cardinals present at the conclave on February 2. The assertion was made here yesterday that any impression that a kind of rivalry exists between the Italian and the so-called foreign cardinals over the selection of a pope of Italian or non-Italian ancestry was mistaken. Most of the so-called foreign cardinals agree on the advisability that the pope should be an Italian, because of tradition (only 18 popes were foreigners out of 260); because the seat of the papacy is in Italy (when it was at Avignon the popes were French); and because the Italians succeeded in maintaining in the most momentous periods in the history of the papacy.

Cardinal Bourne Arrives
Cardinal Bourne, archbishop of Westminster, arrived this morning from England, and visited St. Peter's where he rendered homage to the dead pope.
The statement has appeared in several newspapers that Crown Prince Humbert visited the cathedral yesterday to view the body. This is unofficially denied through the Stefan news agency.

Cardinals Start For Rome
PARIS, Jan. 25.—Cardinal Dabo, archbishop of Paris, and Cardinal Luc, archbishop of Rheims, left today to attend the funeral of Pope Benedict and later the conclave to elect his successor.

Coldest place on earth is in the Siberian province of Irkutsk, where the temperature has fallen as low as 130 below zero.

ARMED GUARD FOR OLES BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY OF "BOBBY" BURNS

Lawless Threaten to "Bump On" Mayor of Youngstown, Ohio

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 25.—An armed guard is staying close to Mayor George L. Oles, day and night, as a result of threatened letters received by the mayor, it was learned today. Reports are current that threats have been made by members of the lawless element to "bump-off" Oles because of his activity in attempting to clean up the city.

Scotsmen and lovers of lyric poems the world over are today celebrating the 133rd anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns. Lowell Scotsmen—Americans now, but true to the traditions of old Scotland and Scottishmen of letters and song—are to remember the anniversary in the usual way, with observances at home and in fraternal club circles.

While no extensive observance is planned for the anniversary, the members of Clan Grant, No. 141, Order of Scottish Clans, at their regular meeting last night, tomorrow evening, will observe the anniversary in proper form.

Devoted lovers of Burns and his Scottish songs, now reverently praised and eulogized by men of all nations, can think of no other Scotsman whose name is so thoroughly linked with Scottish history and Scottish fame, though the land of the Scots has sent many many men in all walks of life to every country, to every trade and to every national enterprise.

The lyric poet whose songs will never perish and who is quoted by more men and women of sentiment and understanding of the power of the human mind, whose strings Bobby Burns played upon while he lived and ever will keep the heart warm with brilliant rays of lightness and song of undying fame, was born on Jan. 25, 1759, in a small cottage near Ayr in Scotland.

The following poem on Burns' anniversary was written by Bernard D. Ward of 188 South Street:
White driven snow, blaw soft, blaw free,
O'er Scotland dreich, and wind-swept lochs,
O'er heather hill and craggy mount,
O'er Impulse Loch and Porten's fount,
O'er Ayr's yer mantle, whaur ye bled,
O, wintry snaw, blaw soft, blaw free.

See wrap him gently in yor shroud,
For Scotsmen aye o' him are proud,
Whaur o'er a rantin' rover turns,
This night he spends wi' Rabble Burns,
While aye Scotland's heart he'll never see,
O, wintry snaw, blaw soft, blaw free.

LECTURED ON FRANCO-AMERICAN RACE
A feature of last evening's meeting of the C.M.A.C. was a lecture delivered by J. Armand Golinas of Littleton, who took for his subject "The Franco-American Race." The lecturer was introduced by President J. A. N. Chretien and for an hour he entertained his listeners in a most delightful manner. The young man spoke of the first French settlers in this country and told what they had accomplished in the line of building churches and schools and in other respects for the benefit of the people of the city. He informed those present that over 50 per cent of the tickets had already been sold and he assured them a full house on that night.

The entertainment will be given by a group of women and a group of men of this city, who will produce two distinct offerings. The women will play a two-act drama entitled "Anna Marie," and those who will take part in the cast are Mrs. J. Omer Smith, Mrs. Albertine Benchesne, Mrs. Louis Arthémis Holth, Fleur Anna Musca, Grace Dupuis, Juliette Vincent, Michèle Larue, Emille Gaudette, Caroline Desautels, Chloé Richard, Cécile Morin and Joannette Chevalier. The rehearsals are under the direction of Miss Angeline Holth.
The men will play "Le Royal Dîner," a one-act opera, under the direction of Telephone Mads and those who will participate besides a chorus of 30 male voices are W. P. Calise, Jr., Ernest J. Dupont, George Labrèche, Raymond Alexander and E. J. Laroche. It is expected that the entertainment will be one of the biggest staged in this city in a long time and will be in the form of a battle of music between the men and women.

"In an attempt to carry relief up to the doors of the United States Veterans' bureau," subjects to be discussed it was said, would be vocational training for the disabled in abandoned army camps and cantonments, hospitalization of the disabled veterans, and the cutting of compensation awards by the Veterans' Bureau without sufficient examination and notice.

SCARE-CROW'S TROUBLES

THE PIG WAS PARTICULARLY DISTRESSED.

No wonder Buskins couldn't understand the poor things blown into the sky by Whizzy Tornado. Because the broom talked Spanish, the cow French, the pig Gaelic, the wheelbarrow Italian and so, according to the families they belonged to.

But Nancy and Nick had the language charm that their old friend Magic Mushroom had given them and had no trouble at all finding out the troubles of the poor wind-blown creatures. The pig was particularly distressed because he said with tears rolling down his cheeks, the wind had blown all the corn out of his tail.

Buskins and Nick laughed, but Nancy patted him consolingly. "Why, I guess he feels as bad as little girls do who have no curls at all," she declared. "Betty Brown used to cry all the time until her mother said, 'Why, I know what'll do. Mr. Pig, I'll do what Mrs. Brown did to Betty's hair. I'll put a curl paper on your tail!' Which she did—there being plenty of paper and all sorts of pins—and Piggy went away squealing with delight.

The broom was jabbering away at a great rate, but Nick made out his trouble at once. "He says he was a perfectly good scare-crow before the storm," said he, "but the wind came along and blew off his arms and all his clothes."

"Well," said practical Nancy, looking around. "That's easily fixed. There's tons of straw lying everywhere and, dear knows, there are more sticks than anything else. We've enough stuff for a hundred scare-crows—clothes 'n' all. There's a nice old coat right there! Whizzy did us one good turn anyway!"

So the broom was fixed as good as new in a very few minutes. "I wouldn't mind so much," he apologized happily, "but it's corn-planting time, and the crows where I come from are thicker than bees."

MELLON'S REASON FOR OPPOSING BONUS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Congressional leaders preparing to carry out the administration's plan to put through a soldiers' bonus bill were analyzing today the statement of the treasury secretary for a continued opposition to the bonus as transmitted in a letter from Secretary Mellon to Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee.

Secretary Mellon declared that any attempt to provide for the bonus through use of the principal and interest of the foreign debt to this country would be "futile as well as unwise," and that an attempt to do so through new government borrowings would be "dangerous in the extreme."

If there is to be a bonus, however, the secretary said, it "must be provided for through taxation, and through taxation in addition to the taxes imposed by existing law."

U. S. TO NEGOTIATE NEW TREATY WITH GERMANY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—President Harding held under consideration today with indications of early approval, a proposal that the United States negotiate a new treaty with Germany to create a commission for arbitration of private damage claims growing out of the world war.

Suggested at a White House dinner conference last night between the president, Secretary Hughes and republican leaders of the senate and house, the proposed arbitration treaty, while understood not to have been definitely decided upon was said to have been favorably viewed by the president.

Agreement was said to have been reached at the conference also for a recall of the $5,000,000 loan made to Liberia during the war.

Harold Lloyd's New Salary Is Placed at $1,800,000

NORMA SHEPHERD. SHE WAS EUGENE O'BRIEN'S LEADING LADY IN "CHANGING OF THE GUARDS," AND IS NOW BEING STARRED IN A NEW FILM.

BY JAMES W. DEAN
NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Harold Lloyd's new contract with Pathe is said to call for $300,000 for each picture and the production of six pictures a year. That would make his income $1,800,000 a year. That is more than the fixed sum called for by Chaplin's contract.

However, Lloyd will have to pay the cost of production of his pictures. And Chaplin is paid a percentage above a certain gross on his pictures. Therefore, it is highly probable that Chaplin's salary is greater than Lloyd's.

But $1,800,000 sounds big, stupendous in these days when many in the industry say that admissions must come down and that the first step toward that end is the reduction of star salaries.

Yet when one considers the merit of the entertainment offered by Chaplin, Lloyd and Keaton as compared to that offered by stars of screen dramas, it appears that they should receive much larger salaries.

The comedian is an individual entertainer. He is constantly in the action in every picture in which he appears. His own acting is the criterion of his films.

Few stars of the dramas can "hog" picture after picture without becoming boring. The story is still the thing in drama while the star is paramount in comedies. That is because the comic star is recognized in his own individuality. If the dramatic star were thus recognized the drama would be marred.

Coming Pictures
An interesting list of new productions has just been announced by Paramount. This writer believes it to be the most significant announcement made by American producers in many months. It points to the growing perception of the producers that the average American audience possesses intelligence that demands something more than sugary romances or blood-curdling thrillers.

"If Winter Comes," A. S. M. Hutchinson's best seller is to be filmed in Europe by John S. Robertson with James Kirkwood in the leading role. William DeMille's next production is to be Rachel Crother's "Nice People" with an all-star cast.

June Mathis is now writing the scenario of Hanes's stage, "Blood and Sand," in which Olla Skinner is now appearing. Rudolph Valentino will play Skinner's role and Bebe Daniels and May McAvoy will support him.

The two that hold the most promise of being marvellous pictures are "If Winter Comes" and "Nice People."

Robertson, who will direct the former, was responsible for "Sentimental Tommy" and "Footlights," two films which retained the atmosphere and spirit of their story sources. "If Winter Comes" is truly a great book.

"Nice People" does not hold the wealth of material contained in the Hutchinson story, but William DeMille proved in "Miss Lulu Belle" and "What Every Woman Knows" that he has a keen appreciation of an author's viewpoint and that he is the master of directors in character development.

The one note in the list that jars upon this writer's nerves is the selection of Rudolph Valentino to play a role that has been graced by Olla Skinner in "Camille" and "The Sheik." Valentino did no more than look handsome. He must return to the form he displayed in "The Four Horsemen" if "Blood and Sand" is to be effectively done.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatrical Own Press Agents)

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"Not Yet, Marie," which is one of the happiest of musical comedies, with original lyrics, comedy, music and situations, is being most adequately presented at the B. F. Keith Theatre this week. It is a production that introduces rich comedy and tense drama and is bound to suit persons of varied tastes. On the same program is "The Wonderful Thing," a picture that is classed among one of the best seen at the theatre this season. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Final performances will be given this evening at the Merrimack Square Theatre of "Her Own Money," starring Ethel Clayton, and "Back Pay," with Seena Owen in the leading role. These are two of the best dramatic features shown here this season and if you have not already witnessed them, don't miss this final opportunity.

The second part of the week, beginning with the Thursday matinee, the outstanding attractions will be "Disraeli," starring George Arliss, the noted actor of the legitimate stage, and "White Hands," a melodramatic production with popular Hobart Bosworth in the leading role.

In "Disraeli" not only will Merrimack Square theatre patrons have an opportunity of seeing the distinguished actor in his greatest stage character, but they will also see other members of an all-star cast supporting the noted actor. Among the latter will be Louise Huff, Mrs. Arliss, Noel Tearle and Reginald Denry.

"Disraeli" is not an historical play. The drama of meeting the king, however, the life and times of 50 years ago, together with something of the opposition encountered by the lion, Benjamin Disraeli, M. P., the great statesman who on two occasions was designated by Queen Victoria to be her prime minister. The play contains two love stories and is most interesting. But when all Mr. Arliss and his art are the outstanding features of the production.

Photoplay fans who revel in screen stories filled with vivid adventure have a big treat awaiting them in "White Hands," the second big feature for the second half of the week. The story, laid along the coast of northern Africa, is brimful of romance. Indeed, the photoplay is from the pen of American scenario writer, C. Gardner Sullivan, and deals with the thrilling adventures of a certain "Hurricane Hardy," brutal, licentious master of a sailing vessel, who rules friend and foe alike by the power of an iron hand. Most of the action takes place in the heart of the Sahara.

Robertson, who will direct the former, was responsible for "Sentimental Tommy" and "Footlights," two films which retained the atmosphere and spirit of their story sources. "If Winter Comes" is truly a great book.

"Nice People" does not hold the wealth of material contained in the Hutchinson story, but William DeMille proved in "Miss Lulu Belle" and "What Every Woman Knows" that he has a keen appreciation of an author's viewpoint and that he is the master of directors in character development.

The one note in the list that jars upon this writer's nerves is the selection of Rudolph Valentino to play a role that has been graced by Olla Skinner in "Camille" and "The Sheik." Valentino did no more than look handsome. He must return to the form he displayed in "The Four Horsemen" if "Blood and Sand" is to be effectively done.

For the last three days of the week, starting with matinee on Thursday and evening on Friday, the Merrimack Square Theatre will be showing "The Wonderful Thing," a picture that is classed among one of the best seen at the theatre this season. It is a production that introduces rich comedy and tense drama and is bound to suit persons of varied tastes.

Referendum Vote on Packers' Strike

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 25.—Striking packing house workers throughout the country have been directed to vote tomorrow on whether the packing strike, in effect since Dec. 5, shall be called off. This became known late last night when a letter signed by officials of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters & Butcher Workmen, calling for a referendum vote, was received by local packing house workers and union officials. The letter said that hope of government intervention in the trouble between packing houses and employees had been abandoned and it was thought best to hold a referendum on calling off the strike.

Table Bill to Modify Prohibition Laws

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 25.—The city council last night refused to adopt a resolution sponsored by the Chicago city council which called for modification of the prohibition laws to permit the manufacture of beer and light wines. The aldermen were tied on the vote and the matter was tabled by the voice of the mayor. Much interest was aroused as this city was commonly termed "the wettest city in the United States" before prohibition because of the distilleries here.

PELLETIER DENOUNCED

Called Traitor to Public by
Allen in Closing Arguments
—Case in Hands of Court

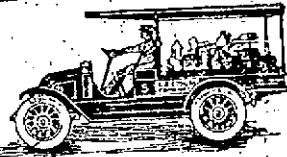

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—The trial of Dist. Atty. Joseph C. Pelletier was brought to a dramatic close yesterday when Atty. Gen. J. Weston Allen, at the close of a five-hour plea for Pelletier's removal, flung back the "Watch and Ward" cry of the defense and its appeal to racial and religious prejudice in a peroration reeking with barbed-wire invective.

Traitor in office, barterer of official power, were some of the phrases hurled at the Suffolk district attorney who was not, nor had been for several hours, in the courtroom to hear them.

"The sword of justice was placed in his hands and he has made of it a highwayman's club," cried Pelletier's prosecutor in a voice strained by passion.

"He has used the scales of justice to weigh the price of corrupt favors," "Like Esau of old, he has sold his birthright for a mess of pottage."

Pelletier's failure to testify himself was a target for persistent verbal

"Diapepsin" for Bad Stomach,
Indigestion

Take "Diapepsin" now! In five minutes your stomach feels fine. Don't bother what upset your stomach or which portion of the food did the damage. If your stomach is sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; you belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food—just take a little Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress. Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear. If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal third without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless natural Diapepsin, which costs only 60 cents for a large case at drug stores.—ADV.

sharpshooters by the attorney general, who contended that this must be judged against him.

Repeatedly in the prolonged review of evidence Pelletier was backed with an outcry, "The man who was selling him out." That they decided "the profits of a partnership in crime" was the judgment which the attorney general demanded from the evidence of bank deposits and withdrawals.

Watch and Ward; Cry a Screen
"The hue and cry" against the Watch and Ward society, and the Bar association and the Union club was but a screen to hide their guilty deeds," cried Mr. Allen contemptuously. "As the man in the ancient fable cried 'Wolf, wolf' but when the wolf came at last they believed him no longer and left him to his fate, so the cry of 'Watch and Ward' and the cry of 'Watch and Ward' religious prejudice" in a peroration reeking with barbed-wire invective.

"It cannot be said—it must not be thought—that these men represent any race or church or class. They misrepresent the honest, confident race from which they spring and which has trusted in their honesty. They stand alone."

A minute later Mr. Pelletier's fortunes were in the hands of the court. The decision as to his continuance in office or removal therefrom rests in the hands of the judges who heard the 16 days and 2500 pages of evidence—Chief Justice Arthur P. Ruger and Associate Justices DeCourcy, Braley, Carroll and Jenney.

THOUSANDS ILLEGALLY
MARRIED IN QUEBEC

MONTREAL, Jan. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Story of Quebec statutes has just brought to light that thousands of marriages have been illegally performed in this province during the last 100 years because of the nationality of officiating clergymen.

An act passed in 1820 before the Canadian Confederation was formed, and while Quebec was still the British colony of Lower Canada, provided that only clergymen who were British subjects could perform marriages, ceremonies. When in 1867 Quebec joined the federal provinces to form the dominion, she retained her civil law intact.

Since 1820, many clergymen have come to Quebec from other countries, especially the United States, and have performed marriages without regard to their nationality.

ANTI-GAMBLING BILL

Drastic Penalties for Gambling on Sports and Con-
tests of All Kinds

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—A bill to impose drastic penalties upon gamblers who gamble upon sports and contests, "whether of man, bird, beast or machine," will be considered at a public hearing before the committee on legal affairs tomorrow morning. Holders of stakes also are made by the bill subject to the same drastic punishments.

The bill provides that "whoever keeps, builds or owns any place with apparatus, books or any device for the purpose of registering bets, or of buying or selling pools, upon the result of a trial or contest, or upon the endurance of man, bird, beast or machine, or upon the result of a game, chess or upon the result of a competition, political nomination, appointment or election, or whoever is present in such place engaged in such business or employment, or being such keeper, occupant, or person, or agent, or buyer or seller of such bets, or of buying or selling pools, or of being the owner, lessee or occupant of a building or room, or part thereof, or private grounds, knowingly permits the same to be used or occupied for such purpose, or for the purpose of knowingly permits to be therein kept, exhibited, used or employed, any device or apparatus for registering such bets, or for buying or selling such pools, shall be fined not more than $1000, or imprisoned not more than one year."

Another section permits any police officer to arrest without a warrant any person in possession of a pool ticket.

Before the committee on judiciary tomorrow will be a bill providing that any city or town shall be liable to the same extent as a business corporation, for the acts or omissions of its officers, agents and employees.

The committee on public service will consider three bills, one providing that in times of industrial depression, that in times of industrial depression, the mayor of any city and the selectmen of any town may suspend the civil service rules and regulations and employ whomsoever they see fit in public work; another for the formulation of uniform regulations to govern the height of applicants for pilot and fireman licenses, placing the minimum height at 5 feet and 7 inches; and a third, on a petition of the Massachusetts Police association, for a clarified law with respect to the rights of police officers whom it is sought to remove, suspend or lower in rank.

Before the committee on education tomorrow there will be a hearing on a bill authorizing each school committee to request school teachers to devote a part of each morning and afternoon session of school to instruction of pupils in the principles and methods of "safety first," particularly with reference to the dangers incident to jumping on and off street cars, automobiles and other vehicles, and to emphasize the importance of constant watchfulness when going to and from school and when crossing streets.

TARIFF

Provision for Flexible Rates
Administered by Adjustment Board Favored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—Legislative provision for flexible tariff rates, to be administered by a tariff adjustment board having "quasi-judicial" functions, is included among other recommendations to which the chamber of commerce of the United States has been committed by a referendum vote. Issues raised in the referendum were "reasonable protection for American industries in destructive competition," maintenance of "anti-dumping" principle, encouragement of export trade and adequate measures to meet foreign discrimination.

The vote on the question of the American valuation basis for levying duties was announced as 973 for and 833 against, lacking to commit the two-thirds majority to commit the question of postponing tariff legislation, pending stabilization of world trade conditions, also was defeated, being 734 for postponement and 1110 against it.

WOMAN ATTACKS
DAUGHTER'S BOSS

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—Stealing up behind Lawrence W. Curran, 28-year-old superintendent of the Freble Cordage Co., Woburn, while he was in a telephone booth in the factory last night, Mrs. Luminelli Janicke, mother of 19 children, fired two shots at him in an effort to avenge the alleged betrayal of her daughter, Frances, 16, an employee under Curran.

The first shot went wild. The second shot, fired as he turned and jumped from a chair, tore through his coat and vest and barely grazed his back.

DISMISSAL OF H. D.

WILSON EXPECTED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—David H. Blair, commissioner of internal revenue, announced last night that he will act in the case of Harold D. Wilson later this week. His action will be accompanied by a statement of explanation. Wilson's removal altogether from the prohibition enforcement service is generally anticipated in view of the statements he has made since his conference here with Blair and Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Day Dinner Bonus Amendment Is Presented to Senate

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The question of a bonus for former service men again was formally presented to the senate yesterday through the introduction by Senator Simmons, democrat, North Carolina, of the five-way adjusted compensation plan as an amendment to the pending measure providing for refunding of the war-time loans to the allied powers.

With the exception of provisions for payment of the bonus, the Simmons amendment is identical with the bonus bill which was taken up by the senate last summer only to be recommitted to the finance committee after President Harding had addressed the senate on the subject. The provisions for issuance of short-term treasury certificates until interest on the debt can be collected to retire them and later the use of the principal of the debt, if and when such becomes available through the insurance and sale of the foreign bonds.

STATIC SPARK CAUSE OF
BROCKTON EXPLOSION

BROCKTON, Jan. 25.—A static spark, produced by friction of felt, impregnated with resin, shellac and denatured alcohol, passed into an even tin can, filled with alcoholic vapor and caused the explosion January 19, the cause of one life, injury of two others and destruction of the B. L. Gould & Sons Co. factory.

Walter C. Weinger, explosives expert for the state department of public safety, made an investigation of the place and interviewed witnesses Tuesday.

Pipe Chief W. F. Daley announced today all other possible causes were eliminated and that Weinger agreed a static spark remains as the only possible cause.

LEGION OFFICER
PROTESTS TO COX

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—State Adjutant Leo A. Spillane of the American Legion last night dispatched a letter to Governor Cox expressing opposition for the present to the proposal of President Harding for the construction of the George Washington and Victory Memorial building in Washington. Spillane informed Governor Cox that the legion opposed the erection of such a memorial until such time as the physically and financially disabled veterans of the world war have been adequately cared for.

Get Rid of Your Fat

If you are needlessly burdened with superfluous fat, read the following carefully. See how easily others have reduced by my simple and efficient method of fat reduction. Some have reduced over a pound a day. All this has been accomplished without resorting to diet or tedious exercise.

Miss O. Whitlow writes: "I have lost 76 pounds as result of your treatment and have never felt so well in my life as I do now."
Mr. S. Barker writes: "I have lost 70 pounds as a result of taking your treatment. I feel better in every way. I can now take long walks without becoming tired or short of breath. I thank you very much for what you have done for me."
Mrs. E. Brown says: "Well, I am glad to inform you that I have lost 48 pounds in six weeks."
Miss O. Foxworth says: "I thought I would let you know how I am getting along. I am feeling fine and have found the treatment pleasant to take at all times. I have not weighed, but my measurements show that I have reduced six inches from my bust, five inches from my waist, and 12 inches from my hips. Of course, I am pleased with the result."

I am a licensed practicing physician and personally prescribe for each individual case, thus enabling me to select remedies that will produce not only a loss of weight harmlessly, but will relieve you of all the troublesome symptoms of over-stoutness, such as shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, indigestion, rheumatism, gout, asthma, kidney trouble and various other troubles which often accompany over-stoutness.

My treatment will relieve that depressed, tired, sleepy feeling, giving you the renewed energy and vigor which come as a result of the loss of your superfluous fat. My treatment is the only scientific treatment known that will produce a loss of weight with positively no harm to the system.

You are not required to change in the slightest from your regular mode of living. There is no dieting or exercising that you have to follow. It is simple, easy and pleasant to take.

If you are over-stout do not postpone but sit down right now and send for my free trial treatment and my plan whereby I am to be paid only after reduction has taken place if you so desire.

Great Crowds Flock to Auto Show at Kasino Despite Zero Weather

"Suburban day" at the auto show today.

Talking motors, electrically driven mechanism, dozens of actual sales, numerous orders ahead and "ladies' day" to make it complete were attractive features of the auto exhibition at the Kasino yesterday and last evening, when nearly 3,000 people from Lowell and many surrounding towns went to Thorndike street, handed their tickets to the smiling doorman in blue and had a genuine motor show feast with all the necessary fixings and many new side dishes in the art of motor-making.

It was another big day and evening for the Lowell Automobile Merchants' association and the many exhibitors. There were special musical programs, many new cars displayed that were not shown on Monday, more expert representatives from Boston and New York auto concerns present to greet old and new friends, and a lot of interesting little features on the side aisles of the Kasino where visitors were entertained by active agents displaying new things in the accessory world that attract and interest and help the show along in a way that calls for genuine admiration.

Dealers are enthusiastic over the prospects for the 1922 business now. If they had any doubts about it before, those doubts have vanished. The indications are that the New Year business will be greater than it was last year, and there are many reasons why.

People are talking purchases. Not all are simply going to the show to feed their curiosity. It is an "old-time" crowd in many respects, with "prospects" who are actually going to be in the market for new cars this year. Automobile men say that a number of sales have been made already, and the week ought to show a long list of purchases.

The exhibits are growing in interest every day. New feature yesterday was a "talking motor," a conservative placed beneath the hood of a car in the Chalfoux Co. exhibit and giving the crowd straight facts about the qualities of the automobile in which it rested.

There was an electrically driven Dore chassis that also attracted attention, with all the moving parts in plain sight.

A free Buick car is offered as the prize for a drawing contest in aid of St. Michael's parish reunion, tickets entitling all bearers to attend a dance to be given for the parish in Lincoln hall, Feb. 16.

KASINO SPARK PLUGS
2 down, 1 to go!

Some more gas, please!

John D. is listening, too!

Picked your "ill ol' bus?"

Not a road hog showed up yet!

One Kasino fan called 'em "buck-boards!"

These fancy buggies will sprout wings next.

Speed records broken getting home from the show, too!

The "loy of the rich" now belongs to the people's party.

"One car for every five persons." Who figured that out?

'Twas a great day when the doctor brought home Lizzie in his little black bag!

Nirvana was never like the joy when you got down four cash sales and three promises!

Ernie the teamster got a pleasant thrill last evening when someone asked him if he wouldn't like to look over an Essex.

We never heard of a butterfly valve, but they have 'em on some cars, and sometimes they ride on the front seat.

The apt used to be considered the model of industry, but the worm drive on certain trucks is the proper thing in some 1922 offerings.

The rumors doesn't tell us how many people have invented carburetors, but they could form a legion of their own and have a good many on the waiting list.

"My car will run as long as a patent," one willing booster says. You figure it out.

Ever knew that old bulls consume more current than new ones? Fact! Don't work your old bulbs too long if you want to save juice.

Chile Little steps on some of the newest cars wouldn't hold any baggage, of course, but they look less cumbersome and rather neat. Many lights are frosted—something new all around.

The 18. G. spark plugs have something on many cars they ride in, sure enough. They are advertised as "The plugs that clean themselves."

Brother Elmes comes in with carburetor suggestions. Says Elmes: "Don't drive in these cold months unless you have the carburetor properly adjusted. If you would have a smooth running motor in cold weather, the density of the gasoline vapor must be increased. See further that your generator charging rate is increased to allow for the harder pull in starting caused by the congealed grease in motor base and in bearings. By setting the generator charging rate up a couple of points, the greater consumption in starting and longer use of lights will be cared for, so that the battery will have full power at all times. In winter time, be sure and throw out the clutch before starting. It will make the drain much lighter on the battery, as it takes off much of this load."

Bedford and Littleton auto men are looking for auto live thieves. J. M. Hartwell and Elmer Gray report U. S. and Goodyear tires gone to the better land somewhere along the roads in two counties.

Auto enthusiasts are delighted with the proposition of numerous automobile companies this year. Back yonder you used to get your car P.O.B. etc., and then had to expend several hundred dollars, perhaps, for everything else that you had to have to actually run the car and enjoy it. Today a good many car manufacturers are selling "everything with the car." It not only helps the dealer to sell cars, but gives the buyer something for his money, too, and saves him a lot of trouble finding out just what he wants to have for a complete car equipment. Dealers say this is a real innovation, and the best move ever made by the manufacturers. Prices can be fixed, of course, to cover everything, but here is a big saving just the same all around, and the idea is rapidly spreading.

The special features for "Suburban day" include invitations to out-of-town folks to make all local downtown salesrooms their headquarters while in town, and also partake of free refreshments here, there and everywhere if they hang on to their lands. Plenty of Kasino steam heat is promised, and a ride home after the show if no other transportation service is available except the well known gasoline burners.

THE NEW 1922 FIVE PASSENGER HAYNES 55 SEDAN

Advanced in design, irreproachable in appointment, rugged in structure, powerful of motor—this newest enclosed Haynes typifies the best that will be modern and desirable in motor cars next year. Luxury and comfort are blended in its richly upholstered interior—adequately heated, skillfully ventilated through the cowl, windshield and roof, illuminated with the soft rays of an overhead dome light.

The Haynes instrument board brings control of the starting and lighting to the driver's finger-tips.

Its motor—the famed fifty horsepower Haynes-built, light six—supplies a flexible flowing power, surmounting the difficulties of hilly or country drives, accelerating with a response which dominates crowded traffic.

Seeks Indictments in Bank Failure

BOSTON, Jan. 25.—The operations which resulted in the failure of the Cosmopolitan Trust Co., 14 months ago, with losses which have been placed officially at $1,764,159, were called to the attention of a special session of the Suffolk county grand jury today by Attorney General J. Weston Allen with a view to obtaining indictments. Whether the grand jury would be given evidence in connection with any of the other four trust companies which were closed about the same time, was not made known. For the inquiry 20 summonses had been served, but as the warrants were all obtained in the name of "John Doe" the list of witnesses was not available.

The Greatness That Endures

Ever since the world began, to one austere quality men and nations have ceaselessly aspired.

With eyes fixed beyond the foreground of temporary triumphs, men seek the greatness that endures.

In statecraft, in art, in literature, in science and in industry, the goal is eternally the same.

Superficial brilliancy, the might of a moment, is cheap and plentiful enough. Profound achievement, the leadership that lasts, is lone and priceless as the stars.

Every day of every year a builder rises whose work bears the promise of greatness.

But the brief success, the single and sensational effort, never is sufficient evidence of genius.

Only by sustained achievement over a period of years is the title to greatness established.

Once in a generation, perhaps, the true and unmistakable leader appears.

Boldly, his work forces itself in upon the consciousness of the world as masterful, fundamental, unique.

No amount of denial or doubt or detraction, no testing passage of years, dim his original greatness in the slightest. Steadily, the evidence of his genius grows, and the renown of his name grows with it.

The whole eager sentiment and support of the world unite triumphantly behind him.

The world lauds his leadership, but more than his leadership it admires the dependability of his powers, the assurance that it can definitely count upon them as a standard for the world to follow.

Applauding the leader, the world applauds itself—the undying fire in itself which lights the age-old quest for enduring greatness.

Great names of all time, in every sphere of human effort, all know the reward of eminence and all bear witness to the eternal truth.

The genuine leader cannot die. His fame is immovable and immortal as the rocks. He lives steadily on, he survives because the power of his work is permanent.

True greatness inevitably endures. Enduring achievement alone is great.

Tickets Not to Be Distributed

Continued. The mayor is in Boston today, attending bill hearings before legislative committees.

While it now seems definitely settled that the mayor's tickets will not be placed in distribution, Councilor James J. Gallagher will present the matter to the council tonight, when it meets in conference to determine the method of procedure for tomorrow night's hearing.

It is said that several of the councilors feel that the mayor has entirely overstepped his authority in having the admission tickets printed; that the charter distinctly states that a "public hearing" shall be held; that in the final analysis, it is not the mayor's hearing at all and that he has nothing whatsoever to do with it, aside from the fact that he has preferred the charges.

The tickets have been printed in the following form:

MAYOR'S OFFICE
This Ticket Entitles the Bearer to Attend the HEARING
Before the City Council on Thursday

January 26, 1922, at 8 P. M.
MEMORIAL HALL
Secretary Cloutier said today that the mayor had proceeded to order the tickets, feeling that the enormous number of persons desiring to attend the hearing would greatly exceed the seating capacity of Memorial hall and that unless some arrangement for admission was made, the crowd could not be adequately handled. A number of requests for tickets have reached the mayor's office, Mr. Cloutier added. City Messenger Owen Monahan has the hall in readiness for the hearing and has asked that seven policemen be assigned to duty there.

BURIAL OF THE POPE

As the burial of Pope Benedict XV takes place in the city of Rome, the whole Christian world will pause in solemn reverence and contemplation. If his Holiness were cognizant of the universal sympathy caused by his rather sudden death, he could not fail to rejoice that much of the bitterness with which the papacy has been regarded in non-Catholic circles, has recently been overcome by the general response to the appeal sent out primarily from the Vatican to get back to the true Christian principles of justice, brotherly love and devotion to God.

To bring about such a revival of the religious spirit, where before it was spurned and scoffed at as something dangerous and only fit for the acceptance of the feeble minded, was one of the chief aims of Pope Benedict's life; and in that he was signally successful.

Without the commanding brilliancy of Leo XIII, Pope Benedict accomplished a great deal, not only for the church in general, but in recognition of all that is good, from whatever source it comes. His policy was one of conciliation by the gentle arts of peace and Christian tolerance; and it was through the application of this spirit that he achieved his chief victories in restoring friendly relations with France and Germany and even overcoming to a great extent, the policy of opposition that so long existed between the Vatican and the Quirinal. Today the "Non-Expedit" rule is a dead letter, and Italian Catholics no longer refuse to vote in local and national elections. Pope Benedict realizing that by participating in such elections, they can do much to check the progress of atheism and communism.

Ascending the papal throne soon after the outbreak of the world war, Pope Benedict was confronted with some very difficult problems and it is understood that German diplomats used every subterfuge to induce his Holiness to espouse their cause. Against such appeals, he stood firmly although it was only when he heard Cardinal Mercier's story of German atrocities in Belgium, that he realized to what an extent the German diplomats had endeavored to impose upon the Vatican. Whatever Cardinal Mercier said or did after his interview with Pope Benedict had the cordial approval of the pope even when the Belgian churchman denounced German atrocities in the most scathing manner.

Pope Benedict always showed a deep interest in the United States and repeatedly gave evidence of his appreciation of what Americans had done for the church and particularly what the Knights of Columbus did to aid in the alleviation of suffering during the great war. It is a gratifying fact that religious bigotry is fast disappearing from the earth and while this is due in a measure to the fact that all denominations fought shoulder to shoulder in the world war; yet Christian tolerance and charity was one of the great principles most strongly advocated by the late pope and one which seems to be taking deep root all over the world. As an indication of this spirit, it is worthy of note that in a Protestant church in Boston on Sunday, the minister not only expressed sympathy with the Catholic church in the passing of the supreme pontiff but also prayed that she might have divine guidance in the selection of his successor.

Pope Benedict certainly left the world much better than he found it. He occupied the chair of Peter about seven years or about the average length of the reign of all popes during the 1500 years of the church's existence.

The death of the pontiff and the selection of his successor direct attention very forcibly not only to the antiquity of the church, but to her absolute indestructibility. After triumphing over the persecution of ages, she stands today practically the only institution coming down from the days when the Savior established His church on earth. The new pope will be chosen in accordance with the fixed laws and usages provided and will assume the responsibilities of supreme guide in all matters of faith and morals of the hundreds of millions of Catholics scattered throughout the universal world. Popes may come and popes may go, but the church lives on without interruption; and thus she has passed through all the wars, plagues, persecutions and vicissitudes of nineteen centuries, always holding up to the eyes of men their duty to God and to one another, always standing firmly against injustice and wrong and if we are to judge of her future from her past she will so continue till the end of time.

MASSACHUSETTS AGAIN

Final reports on the wonderful work accomplished by the Massachusetts Halifax Health Commission are just coming in. They contain a wealth of detail that proves the great value of that commission and shows what Massachusetts can do in all emergencies. It is a record justly to be proud of, and all New England, for that matter, can boast of having done the same thing in a railway way, when the great call for help came from our friends beyond the border.

The activities of the health commission since the Halifax disaster have been many, for much suffering followed in the wake of the explosion and fire and there are still several thousand men, women and children to be tenderly cared for. Today more than 2500 persons are receiving medical, dental and health advice in the various clinics supported by Massachusetts funds.

"Old Admiralty" house in Halifax is declared to be "the best health center on the American continent," the commission establishing methods of health teaching already showing wonderful results actively through the stricken communities and radiating widely throughout the maritime provinces. Home teaching by nurses trained in public health is now actively going on in 1633 families, thus reaching about 8000 people.

A notable feature of Massachusetts' great work in Halifax has been the lowering of the death rate. Team work is showing results. Wonderful aid in a wonderful way—that characterizes briefly the Massachusetts bureau's health campaign in Halifax and vicinity. Our brothers in the north are grateful indeed, but they must remember that this is nothing unusual. It is the American way, and if Canadians ever suspect that it is done for any other reason than simply to help our brothers of the snows, they will have to think again. America is today "nursing the world," as has been said by a New York clergyman addressing a recent convention of war nurses. And America will continue to help the world so long as her efforts are not misunderstood or her motives questioned.

SAVING CAMP DEVENS

It will be a source of gratification to the people of Lowell and vicinity that Camp Devens is to be retained for military purposes. It would be an act of wanton waste to tear down Devens or any other camp of its kind, constructed at vast expense, so long as such campments can be used for future military training. Secretary Weeks, we believe, has made a wise decision in planning to utilize them for military purposes.

We have reduced the size of our army and have agreed to scrap capital ships; but the time may come when we shall need a larger army and a navy at least equal to any in the world. We should not scrap the military camps.

THE UNMARRIED

How many Americans, more than 50 years old, are unmarried? About 2,000,000, reports the census bureau. It estimates that only 100,000 of them will ever marry.

Is Capital losing his aim? Probably not. Chances are, the percentage of the population that goes through life single is about the same as ever. Love and marriage are instinctive, and instinct requires more than a decade or century to change it.

One thing is certain, and the census shows it: The age of marriage is being raised. Not like grandma's day, when 16-year-old brides were not unusual.

About 10 per cent of our women marry before 20. A tenth of these are widowed or divorced within a few months. Men marry later in life than women, more than half of them waiting until after they're 30.

Yes, we'll admit that cold storage is an economic necessity; but the abuses of the system and the retention of eggs and other foodstuffs in cold storage until they show signs of decomposition is the danger to be guarded against. Cold storage produced are responsible for a large proportion of the cases of ptomaine poisoning. Yet without cold storage a large portion of our surplus food supply could not be saved for time of need. If cold storage is what it is represented to be, it would keep food in the same condition as when placed in storage; but the cases are rare in which the refrigeration is so effective as to do this. If food is kept frozen it will not spoil, although it will lose its flavor; but the cold storage eggs seem to belie all claims that the food in cold storage is continually frozen.

RAINBOW CHASERS

The patent office is flooded with designs for submarine apparatus intended to recover $10,000,000 in gold and other valuables lost in torpedoes and mined ships during the war.

If the inventors applied the same brain effort to devices that would be useful in everyday life, their prize would be many times $10,000,000.

Fortune is wherever a man decides to make it. But it is human nature to desert a sure-thing and chase the rainbow.

Uncle Sam is already being dubbed as a Shylock because he has not allowed his intention of cancelling the war loans to the European nations. The nations cannot pay now, but Uncle Sam is willing to wait. If that is Shylockian policy, let the propagandists make the most of it.

The great auto show now on at the Casino will give the people of this part of the state an excellent opportunity of judging of the latest models in cars and of seeing what a complete and varied stock the Lowell dealers are offering to the public.

Those who recall the lecture of John Kendrick Bangs in this city will regret to hear of his death. He was a delightful lecturer and a natural humorist. Not every generation produces a man so specially gifted as was Bangs.

Evidently Harold D. Wilson will not down. Neither will he wear a muzzle. A little discrimination would give him strength as a political aspirant.

Let all who are interested in the progress of automotive science attend the great auto show now in progress at the Casino.

In some cities rents are reported to be back to normal but not so in Lowell.

SEEN AND HEARD

Fighting fire in zero weather would not be a job to our liking.

"Doc" Bartlett is a philosopher. He says the less you know about people the longer you will retain their friendship.

If the other fellow doesn't talk back it must not be taken for granted that he can't think of anything to say. There's no way the maker of a hot-headed remark can be more severely punished than to be ignored.

A Word a Day

Today's word is parsimonious. Its pronunciation—pah-ris-mo-ni-us, with accent on the third syllable. With adjectives, it is not generous, grasping, tight. It comes from Latin "parcere," to save. Companion words—parsimony, parsimoniousness. It's used like this: "Though rich, he was so parsimonious he would not buy enough to eat."

Back to the Farm

What you could buy for $1 before the war now costs $1.70 in the average city. This is latest cost-of-living report from the National Industrial Conference board. The figure is a lot lower in small towns. The man who insists on living in the city has paid the price. The solution of the city man's cost of living is to move to the farm. He might not get much for his crops, but he at least would be sure of a living.

Cubist Rayonism

New York has an exhibition of the most advanced art—"cubist rayonism." In Russia, the pictures look like an explosion in a paint factory. Sympathetic critics describe this "rayonism" as "characteristic extensions of the artist's restless artistic consciousness." That will make cubists grin. They know that cubist and futurist artists merely have diseases of the eyes, usually mysterious. Their paint life is usually distorted. Even Paul Gauguin needed spectacles.

The Fat Woman

It is easy for a fat woman to reduce, says Dr. Julia Hunt Peters of Los Angeles. All the fat woman has to do is go on a strict diet. Everybody knows that. But it's not easy. Medical experts say that the solution to compare with the agony of dieting fat woman when she sees a box of candy or sniffs the fragrance of a freshly-baked pie or roast of beef. Trouble with fat, not fat itself, is that they take the plunge too suddenly. They should taper off, like the alcoholic getting stupor by step on the water wagon.

Smack That Child

A mother was reproving her little 4-year-old girl for being naughty. "If you are so tiresome and disagreeable," she said, "you will not be loved, and when you grow up you will not have any friends." The child replied at once: "I shall not want any friends, for I shall get married. O, no," replied mother, "you will not get married if you are disagreeable, for gentlemen are particular." After a short pause, the little girl remarked: "Short mummy, I don't think daddy was particular!"—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Today

Yesterday's gone—It was only a dream of the past there is naught but remembrance. Tomorrow's a vision thrown on Iloilo's screen. A will-o'-the-wisp, a mere semblance. This moment my past and my future I form; I may make them whatever I choose. By the deeds and the acts that I now perform. By the words and the thoughts that I use.

So I fear not the future, nor mourn over the past

For I do all I'm able today, Living each present moment as though it were my last!

Perhaps it is! Who knows? Who shall say?

TYNGSBORO CAMPS ARE BROKEN INTO

Vandals are at work among the camps surrounding Johnson's corner in Tyngsboro, and the extent of the damage done to the furnishings of the camps which have been broken into, including breakage of desks, windows and dishes, leads to the conclusion by the authorities that the responsible party or parties must be insane.

Thomas Brown of West Chatham, Mrs. Emily Shaw, who resides in neighborhood, Edward A. Jones, Albert E. Brooks and a Lowell man known as Glemings.

Other breaks have been made in this section in the past, but were not accompanied with such damage. The theory is that the robbers were unable to find the valuables they sought and revenge themselves by destroying everything at hand.

MAN, ABOUT TOWN

A proof of the far-sightedness in putting storm boards upon the Centralville bridge was never better demonstrated than last Sunday during which time the velocity of the wind attained almost hurricane force. The wind swept down the Merrimack river in a cold, steady sweep, making a journey across the structure the least trifling. But the boards helped in a great measure to break the force of the wind.

Not an oldtimer yesterday and he reminded me that it was the 74th anniversary of the discovery of gold in California. Since that great discovery it may be noted that Alaska, featured by that great rush to the Klondike, came to the fore as the gold producing area of this country. But the Alaskan veins soon ran out and a recent report shows that California produced $14,000,000 worth of gold in 1920 against one-half that much for Alaska.

Residents of Christian Hill have been treated to more slippery walking this winter than ever before, according to some of the oldest residents there. The entire hill is covered with ice, at least the places where one walks, and navigation on the streets is both difficult and dangerous. "Slips," as falls are commonly called, have been many this winter. There are few Christian Hillers who have not at least had one spill to their credit. In most cases the victims have jumped up laughing, but at the same time rubbing a tender spot, a reminder of the good old winter time and the joys of living on "the hill." The people in other sections of the city may laugh now, but the laugh will be reversed during the summer months when the lower sections are sweltering in the heat while the "hillers" are enjoying the cool breezes which start in the neighborhood of the reservoir.

There are two huge humps of ice on the sidewalk in Merrimack street that have caused more or less inconvenience to people going towards city hall. These two humps are located between the junction of Central and Merrimack streets and Palmer street and run from the buildings clear to the gutter. And the deplorable part of it is they are caused by drain pipes coming down from the buildings. It does seem the authorities might prevent a great deal of trouble by insisting that the drains be slanted in another direction. If for no other reason than to protect the city in the matter of a civil suit, should someone be injured as the result of a fall.

I have observed that there is a constant increase in the number of ladies who carry with them a loud theater to while away the time between acts, and the thought has occurred to me that if a man were to do likewise he would, at the very least, be regarded as eccentric. Yet it does not seem so long a time since the legitimate drama was consistently featured at the old Academy of Music and the Opera house, and the boys all carried their favorite literature, mostly five-cent weeklies, in their back pockets, and read it while waiting for the curtain to rise and in the intermissions for changes of scenes. Even later, at the old Hathaway, the boys who "rushed" the top balcony long before the opening of the show, in the hope of obtaining front seats, always brought their reading matter.

I notice that Frank Ricard, Central street jeweler, has a fine window display advertising the Elks' Charity ball, which is to be held in the Associated hall on February 1. It is customary for business men, who are Elks, to decorate their places for this event. Elks insignia of every description is found in the display. Two large Elks heads, finely mounted, are placed at the side of the window and suspended from them by means of purple ribbons, tied on the noses of the animals is a large Elks' clock advertising the affair. Streamers running around the entire top of the window explain the cause of the display.

A sentiment is gradually gaining strength among the members of the local League of Catholic Women that the size of their membership demands larger quarters for the proper conduct of activities. I have learned that at a recent meeting of Massachusetts presidents, in Boston, with 72 branches represented, a report of progress was sought from each president. The Worcester reported membership ranging from 200 to 300, with one of 600. The local president, Mrs. J. T. Donohue, reported that the girls in membership in Lowell this season were 100. The neighborhood of 700, Whoropson High School, Cardinal O'Connell, who was present, demanded the total membership figures. Upon learning that it was nearly 3000, and that the organization's activities included proposed courses in art and literature, he declared that the Lowell league must have a club house. No definite action has been taken as yet, however.

Edward Hoyle, who standardized rules of most card games, lived about the beginning of the 18th century.

Berton Braleys Daily Poem

DAILY IN OUR ALLEY

Of all the girls that are so smart For it is with consummate skill She bowls 'em down the alley! She has the grace, she has the form (The form, I mean, for bowling). The very top-plus fall for her When Sally starts to roll!

Each frame she plays, within my time She sets the blood to aplaning. What care I if we lose the game? Her ways are always winning. No matter what the figures be Upon the score's tally.

And whether Sally hits the pins Or misses them completely, There's one thing I am certain of, She bowls me over headly! She played her game well from the start!

A clever girl is Sally, She makes a ten-strike on my heart When bowling down our alley. (Copyright, 1922, The Lowell Sun)

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS MINSTREL SHOW

The annual Knights of Columbus minstrel show, always regarded and looked forward to as the best of the season, will be given in Associated hall on Friday evening. The proceeds of the show will be donated to the C. of C. Guild, one of the city's most worthy charities.

The end men—always the feature attraction of a minstrel show—are five in number, and include the best talent in that line in the city. Daniel J. Brennan, George S. Sullivan, Chas. Clancy, Edward D. Lawley and Frank P. McArthur are all funny men beyond compare, and their song numbers and witty repartee will convulse the audience.

The soloists are also artists of prominence and talent. The Roane brothers, James P. and John F., Jr., are heard with delight each season by many audiences. Thomas J. Tobin, Timothy J. Finnegan and John B. Doyle are well known as concert singers, and each has a following which will surely be on hand for Friday night's show.

A character specialty, presented by James E. Donnelly, assisted by Misses Alice Dion and Alice Donnelly, should prove one of the best numbers on the program, since Mr. Donnelly's fame as an entertainer has travelled far beyond the limits of his native city, and his two assistants are performers of extraordinary ability. A chorus of 100 voices will have a responsible and melodious part in the program. Under the capable direction of William P. Thornton, the musical director of K. of C. shows for many years, this chorus, according to those who have listened to the work at rehearsals, has developed into the very best, perhaps, that ever took part in a show given in Lowell equally. With a splendid opening chorus they start the show off with plenty of pep, and on the end men's songs and in the finale they will be very much present.

William L. Howard will act as interlocutor, and should be excellent in that capacity, and Charles P. Miner, the well-known orchestra leader, is accompanist.

WILL LOCATE HERE

Cooper Wall Paper Store

Coming to Lowell

The 28th store in the chain of Cooper Wall Paper stores of Springfield, Mass., and Worcester, is to locate in Lowell right away, Oscar D. Dillman, owner of the concern, having leased from the S. S. Kresge Co., a large store room on the west end of the second floor of the Hildreth building, 45 Merrimack street. The latter part of February the formal opening of the new store will take place. The lease was negotiated through the offices of William W. Drey of New York and T. H. Elliott & Son of this city.

The Cooper chain of stores cover nearly all of the eastern and central states of the country. The present New England stores are located in Worcester, Springfield, Bridgeport and Hartford. High grade wall papers are sold, coming direct from the mills, and selling at 5, 10, 15, 20 and 25 cents a roll, with nothing higher than the latter figure. Lowell is regarded by Mr. Dillman as a banner city for a live, up-to-date wall paper business and he is enthusiastic over the prospects here.

The new store room will be 22 feet wide and 55 feet long, with a large skylight in the centre and one large show window at the front. More than 300 designs of wall papers will be shown on walls and casels. The lines of 1922 patterns include the Duplex, sunburst, oatenia, grasscloth, jasper, stripes, chintz, varnished, etc., chintz, pressed goods, tapestries, cretonnes, felices and cutout borders.

Mr. Dillman's reasons for locating in Lowell were simple enough, he said.

"We wrote to several chambers of commerce," he stated, "and received a very prompt reply from George F. Wells, secretary-manager of the Lowell chamber of commerce. Not only did he answer the questions we asked but he helped us to locate quarters. I was impressed with the city on my first visit, and after learning what a fine trading centre it is, I promptly decided to open a store here."

WOMAN APPEALS FOR ASSISTANCE

A woman who states that she is employed in a local mill a few days each week, has appealed to the police by letter for assistance. She writes that she always hands over her pay to her husband and that for the past five months he has succeeded regularly in losing her money and his own in some gambling resort, and the family is quite destitute, since the merchants of the quarter have refused to give any further credit, on account of outstanding bills. She says that she fears to appear at the station in person, as her husband might learn of it and make trouble, but she earnestly requests the police to do something to relieve her deplorable condition.

at the Salvation Army's

Nearly 125 hungry mouths were fed today at the Salvation Army's noon kitchen which was conducted in the headquarters in Appleton street. In fact the demand on the kitchen was so great that it was necessary to turn away a few people who had enough food had been prepared. Yesterday the kitchen opened and there were few to partake of the beef soup. HELD ANNUAL COSTUME PARTY

A variety of beautiful costumes featured the second annual costume party and dance at the Marathon Social and Athletic club in Association hall last night, and at the conclusion of the grand march, Charles Mayors and Mrs. Yvonne Lafrenche were awarded first prize, and James Sturma the second. Another popular contest followed, a prize quiz, and the winners were: First, Theodore Goutous and partner; second, George Manas and Helen Phillips; Jack Gilmore, Sam Housley and James Papacostas followed as the judges.

Present as guests of the club were the Greek consul at Boston, Hon. Ioannas Matlis, Mayor George H. Brown, George M. Harrigan and Joseph Flynn. Other officers of the dance were: John Maropoulos, general manager; Anterinos Soufras and Soterios Housley, floor directors; Arthur Kyriakos, chief aid; George Manas, Demetrios Papacostas and aid.

GREAT INTEREST IN HIGH SCHOOL PLAY

Interest is high in the coming play "Penury" to be given by the members of the high school classes. In nearly every part of the high school where bulletin boards are permitted, and in some places where they are not, may be found cleverly worked up "ads" announcing the coming show. Amateur artists seem to be plentiful in the high school, for the signs are almost in every case accompanied by a drawing of some kind, either a scene from the play or a cartoon of one of the leading actors. Reports have it that the show will play to two packed houses. Miss Mary C. Joyce, an instructor at the school, who has charge of the production, is leaving no stone unturned in an effort to make the show the "bestest" ever. Nearly every operation is being given by members of the cast.

THE NEW BOULEVARD IN FIRST STREET

As the result of a conference held yesterday between members of the public service board, the city engineer and engineers of the state department of public works, at the state house, Engineer Stephen Kearney has been instructed by his board to draw up the plans necessary for the city's share of road construction in relation to the new boulevard in First street.

The city will supply the connecting link and the plan is to widen First street by eight feet from Bridge street to the point of connection with the new stretch of roadway. It is understood that the city has no option in the matter, for the state will not proceed with its part of the program unless this widening is done. It is expected that work will commence early in the spring, with the hope that the whole job may be finished by late fall.

While in Boston yesterday the public service board members conferred with the civil service authorities relative to the transference of men in the labor division from one department to another, and the commissioner decided there would be no objection on his part, provided that such employees have been legally put to work in strict accordance with civil service regulations and rules.

SOME PROBLEMS OF EDUCATION

Commissioner of Education Addresses Men's Club of the Eliot Church

Says Certain Methods in the Public Schools Have Lacked Thoroughness

Dr. Payson Smith, state commissioner of education, in an address on "Some Problems of Education," given last evening before the Men's club of the Eliot Union church, said that the public schools have been sadly deficient in carrying out the principles of giving a pupil mastery of the tools of education; that the methods have lacked thoroughness; that we have been running too much to educational fads and that the public schools themselves are not capable of carrying the whole burden and may well fall far short of their mission unless active co-operation is given by the church and home.

"When I say that we have been running too much to educational fads," said Dr. Smith, "I mean we have placed much faith in educational vau-deville. Please do not misunderstand me. I am pleading for more than the three R's. I would admit music and other studies, but if I had the power of a czar, I would publish an order that in arithmetic, for example, pupils in the first six grades would study nothing except the four fundamental operations, fractions and percentage.

"Despite progress in our public schools there yet remain many difficulties. Perhaps the greatest pressing need is the need for getting the various factors in the community to co-operate with the schools. Too great reluctance is placed on the public schools of Lowell and other communities. The schools of Lowell but partly educate the children. That is all they can do. The work of the schools must be complemented by the influence of the home, church and moving pictures if we are to succeed. All these factors have certain obligations to perform in shaping the education of our children.

"Incidentally, in considering the home tendency to place all educational responsibility upon the public schools I may say here that a related and very pressing need at present is that of attending to one's own business. Much good would result if each one determined his own obligations and struck their fulfillment.

"The religious part of the community I think the next need is to look to the history when the church has before it the necessity of devising a religious program for the children as it has at the present moment. If we do not do the right thing by the spiritual nature of our children we cannot expect to receive a great reward in the next generation.

"Perhaps no factor has failed so completely to fulfill its educational obligations as the modern home. Homes have become too individualistic—they have no sense of community obligations. Each home is isolated from every other. We really need a restoration of the old-fashioned conception of the home as the cornerstone of education. Public education could be helped in no better way than by keeping the children at home about five evenings a week and discarding the co-operative possibilities of the church, home and theatre, and go forward with the idea that the school is to carry the whole burden of educating the children, our education system is doomed to failure.

"However, do not gather from this that I believe that the public school system has little or no obligation to serve the community as it should be served. I believe that in the public school too principles should be developed. The first is that the schools should aim to give the pupils a mastery of the tools of education and the second is that the school teachers and system should make allowances for the differences in individual pupils.

"Here I may say that I do not agree with Mr. Edison. I do not believe that the social or business world is clamoring for people with masses of information. If we believe that they do want the habit of self-control and application and toward the development of these qualities I believe the regular school routine helps greatly.

"Considering the other need of our public school system, the allowance for different qualities of individual pupils, I want to protest against the 'average' idea in education. I want to protest against the 'mass' idea in education. You know in many quarters it is firmly believed that you can take a great number of pupils, determine their average needs and capabilities and find an average educational program that will fit the situation. I tell you, gentlemen, that the worst service that the public schools could perform for the country would be a standardized Americanism.

"No, we should make allowance for individual differences in teaching our children. If we are going to expect all children to do all things alike and then get different answers we are on the wrong track. When a person comes to the point where he can answer the same question yes and no he is ripe for the political arena.

"Therefore the idea in the public schools here has been that if you make a boy interested and excitedly watched you will get a good educational result. The amateur of this idea says, 'If he likes history, cut down the time on history study and concentrate on arithmetic or something else.' The boy likes history, let him go to it. He will come day by day of great service to the country as a historian.

"In our constitution, our churches and other agencies, we have the material for a new world. But in making a new world the most important material we have at hand is the twenty millions of children who we must educate. Education is our greatest industry and if we are alive to its possibilities we shall be able to make our Lowell, our Massachusetts and our America fit instruments for the fulfillment of their destiny."

FOREIGN WAR VETERANS Installs Walker-Rogers Post Officers

Degree Team From Lynn
Post Officers

The officers for the coming term of the Walker-Rogers Post 622, Veterans of Foreign Wars were last night installed at appropriate exercises held in Memorial hall.

The following officers of the local post took oath of office and were installed by a degree team from Lynn: George D. Crowell, post commander; William J. Robinson, senior vice commander; Frank E. Hart, junior vice commander; Frank Hotchkiss, chaplain; Roland W. Black, quartermaster; William C. Kirk, adj.; Carroll A. Payson, historian; John P. Shea, officer of the day; David Caddell, trustee; R. A. Smith, sergeant-major; Frank Van Greenberg, patriotic instructor.

The visiting degree team made an impressive appearance and conducted the installation exercises with all the pomp and ceremonial attendant to such an affair. The team was especially well drilled and in conducting the officers to their various stations showed they had forgotten little of the military training they had received while in the service of the different armies with which they fought.

The Lynn team, was headed by Commander John W. Hurley, Vice Commander Charles Rowe, Adj. L. R. Young and Chaplain Ernest A. Abbott. The remaining members of the team made a fine supporting bodyguard to the officers and ably assisted in carrying out the program in an efficient and military manner.

During the evening a number of short speeches were made all of which were well received by members and guests present. Included in the list of speakers were Major George H. Brown, State Chairman, Lynn County, National Deputy Chief of Staff James B. Casey, Deputy Chiefs of Staff Gannon and Lessor and State Adj. P. R. Casey, Andrew A. McCarthy entertained with several vocal selections during the evening, all of which made a decided hit.

Eight guests, all of whom were members of Company M, 101st Infantry, were on duty and included: Sergis Gannon and Clarke, Corps, Nash and Hume, and Privates Allen, Fitzgerald, Angus and Laviole.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT Man Arrested in Dracul Fined $150 for Illegally Keeping Liquor

But one case was disposed of in district court this morning, when John Textera of 15 Chapel street, this city, was brought before the court on a charge of illegally keeping liquor, and was fined $150.

When court opened not a single prisoner was in the dock, and the ranks of the spectators were noticeably thin. Peter and James Sokorols, brothers, appeared on charges of drunkenness and assault and battery, charged with assault and battery. The cases, which are understood to have arisen from an altercation in Market street, which was later resumed on Broadway, were continued from last week, and on account of the absence of the attorney for the Sokorols brothers were again continued until February 1. Judge Thomas J. Knight stated positively that there would be no further continuance granted, and the cases will be tried next week. A number of witnesses were present to testify for Gatron.

When the illegal keepings case against John Textera was called it was found that he was not in the courtroom. A writ was at once issued to Chief William Cullinan of the dracul police, and he returned with Textera in a short time. The prosecution related that a visit had been paid a shack in Kenwood last night by Chief Cullinan and Officer Keeney of the Dracul force, accompanied by Federal Officers Sheldon and Bowers. They found a still of 60 gallons capacity, 12 gallons of molasses and 800 gallons of mash, also a quantity of distilling apparatus of minor value. Textera was found in the building and notified to appear in court this morning. The defendant pleaded guilty, and a fine of $150 was assessed by the court.

NEW DIRECTORS ELECTED Chamber of Commerce Elects Seven Directors Chosen From List of Fourteen

Seven new directors were last night elected to the board which governs the chamber of commerce activities. They include Donald M. Cameron, Elmore J. MacPhee, William A. Mitchell, H. Hutchins Parker, Tyler A. Stevens, Royal P. White, and Percy J. Wilson. These men were chosen from a list of 14 nominees, who, in turn, were voted upon by the members of the chamber. The polls closed last night and showed that over 600 members had participated in the voting.

The newly elected directors will take the places of the seven who are to retire this year and will hold office for a two year term. With eight other directors who were elected last year, they will make up the governing board. The old members of the board have still a year to serve and when their time runs out next year eight others will be chosen to take their places. According to the policy of the directors, eight are elected one year and seven the following.

The members of the board to retire are Abel R. Campbell, Edward B. Carney, John W. Chaffin, George C. Fairbank, William T. Goodell, Chas. H. Hobson and William A. White. Several of the directors who are being retired were nominated for office again this year but they decided to step down to allow others of the members to have a chance at managing affairs.

Beside the seven directors named above the board included the following eight who have already served one year and have a year longer to serve: Freeman M. Bill, Royal K. Dexter, Edward Fisher, Elbert J. Gilmore, John A. Hunnewell, Robert E. Marden, Albert D. Milliken, and Harry G. Pollard.

The forecast for Thursday is fair weather with rising temperatures, and Friday will probably follow suit. There will be moderate shifting winds, becoming southerly. The cold wave sent the mercury down to around 24 and 25 below zero, and made the orange-growers build smudges fires to keep the groves warm, has left the west. The glasses in San Francisco last night were up to 55.

WILL GIVE SIX LECTURES ON CURRENT EVENTS

Through the efforts of Mrs. Boyden H. Pillsbury and other local women an interesting series of six current events lectures will be conducted here by Mrs. Claude U. Gilson of Boston. All the lectures will be given at 10 o'clock in the morning at the South parish house and the first of the series is scheduled to start Feb. 23.

Working with Mrs. Pillsbury is a committee of 10 women who, in turn, are asked to call on 25 women in their neighborhood and make known the object of the lectures. The idea originated with Mrs. Pillsbury and met a hearty response from other women whom she talked it over with.

The committee was especially fortunate in securing a speaker of Mrs. Gilson's ability. She is a nationally known figure and well posted in the current topics of the day. She is an ex-vice president of the State Federation of Women's clubs and has won a great deal of praise for her work while in office.

When the war broke out Mrs. Gilson was chosen from a large list, and sent across the water by the National Federation of Women's clubs in charge of the Red Cross unit delegated by that organization. She remained many months abroad and her work in the home of the Red Cross, which she did with her own hands, was a great deal of praise for her work while in office.

A small admission fee will be charged and the proceeds, if any remain after expenses are paid, will be turned over to the Lowell Guild. The public is invited to the lectures.

Final arrangements have been made for the Gagnon camp meeting and dancing party, which will be held in Association hall on February 2. Elaborate decorations and good music are promised and the members of the committee say the affair will be the best ever.

The board of governors of the Y.M.C.A. met last night and elected Ivan C. Small a member of the board and president of the association. Mr. Small is connected with the staff of the Union National bank. The local board has voted to participate in the retirement fund drive for Y.M.C.A. secretaries which is to be launched in April of next year.

Any More Records Last Night

Average of 7 Below in City Proper — Warmer
Weather Coming

The mercury failed to break any more records last night after creeping down below the zero mark and stopping around the 7 numeral in Lowell city proper.

Warmer weather is on the way, the Washington forecasters say, but not before tomorrow at the latest. Friday will find the weather actually "moderate" and about normal for January, predictions have it.

The glasses at the Locks & Canals office registered 7 below last night, at 5 a. m. it was up to 3. Walter Courtney reported the seven just before he left for his home and breakfast, and that goes for the official temperature in Lowell last night.

At the pumping station it was a little higher, but the outside towns had lower figures to report. At Sweetser's store in Chelmsford Centre, the glass at 6 o'clock was 6 below, but earlier than that in other places below the town. 8 below was the rule. Westford came in this morning with a 13 below, registered on a Benton glass, regarded as the very best in the mercury line of thermometers.

Reports from the far north this morning showed many records broken in cold waves downward from the north. Enfield Center, N. H., had 16 below zero; Concord, Vt., 46; Fort Fairfield, Me., 44; St. Johnsbury, Vt., 35; Keene, N.H., Manchester 36 and Nashua 35 below.

In Massachusetts, Athol came in with a 36 below zero; North Lancaster 32 below and Methuen 31. At Junction glasses showed marks from 20 to 25 and Gardner 23.

The Trill farm in North Tewksbury came in with 10 below, as the lowest mark before dawn. On the edge of the Lowell-Tewksbury line it was 9 below this morning at the Fleming blacksmith shop.

It was a cold day yesterday from sunrise to sunset, local glasses only creeping upward to about 15 above the zero mark before beginning the evening slide downward toward the old bulb. At midnight it was zero in many places in the city, and before sunrise the mercury registered 7 in numerous places, the average being quite so high as it was the night before.

The forecast for Thursday is fair weather with rising temperatures, and Friday will probably follow suit. There will be moderate shifting winds, becoming southerly. The cold wave sent the mercury down to around 24 and 25 below zero, and made the orange-growers build smudges fires to keep the groves warm, has left the west. The glasses in San Francisco last night were up to 55.

DISTRICT DEPUTY VISITS LOWELL ELKS

Lowell lodge No. 87, B.P.O. Elks, was paid an official visit last night by District Deputy Dr. William D. McPhee of Haverhill lodge No. 166, and his entire suite of 15 members. After reviewing the statistical work of the local lodge in the initiation of 25 candidates, the district deputy was loud in his praise of the degree work done by the local officers. In his address to the lodge, he reminded all members to be faithful to their vows and to the United States constitution, which they take oath to support and uphold.

Excited Ruler, Samuel Scott also made a short address to the new members and welcomed them as brothers to the great herd of Elks. John Drennan, P.E.R. of Cambridge and now president of the Massachusetts Elks' association, and Richard W. Barrett, P.E.R. of Haverhill, also spoke.
